BUCK SEES COALITION OF LPP, CCF, SOCREDS

REGINA (CP)—Tim Buck said Wednesday night he foresees a future coalition of the Labor-Progressive Communist party he heads, the CCF and Social Credit to "defeat monopoly capitalism."

"We will fight for that coalition of the new parties," Mr. Buck said in an election campaign address to an audience of 184 people which left wide unoccupied spaces in the 1,800-seat Exhibition auditorium.

"It will be a national crusade and by the logic of history, it is also Canada's path to socialism."

Atom War Said Discussed; UN Counter-Attack Bogs

Compiled from UP, AP Dispatches

SEOUL, Korea—War or peace?

Events appeared to be building to a climax in the three-year Korean war conflict today.

ON THE TRUCE FRONT the United Nations command has given the Communists 48 hours in which to give a "yes" or "no" answer to a new proposal designed to break a truce deadlock.

ON THE WAR FRONT Red Chinese forces fought off a surprise South Korean and American counter-thrust on the blazing central front today, and bit off new gains of their own with a 12,000-man assault on a vital hinge near Kumhwa at the base of the old Iron Triangle.

Meanwhile, in Washington, a massive effort to defeat the Communists with atomic weapons is reported a possibility if the Reds elect to continue the Korean war instead of signing an armistice, Charles Corddry, UP Washington correspondent, reports.

First indication that the UN had sent an ultimatum to the Reds came when a messenger sprinted from a helicopter to the truce hut at Panmunjom Wednesday. He delivered a teletyped message from Tokyo, Allied supreme headquarters, to Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, the chief allied negotiator.

It was announced soon afterward that there would be a 48-hour recess in the truce talks, with the next meeting to start at 2 p.m. Saturday.

It was indicated that the recess was agreed on so that the Communists could study a new proposal concerning the promise of South Korean President Syngman Rhee to abide by an armistice.

The UN command, it was reported, told the Reds it wanted a showdown and that they had until Saturday to come up with a definite answer. This answer might tell whether the truce talks are to continue, with some hope of an early armistice or whether the UN command will call an indefinite recess.

Harrison had walked out on the Communists at Wednesday's meeting.

Red Attack Builds Up Rapidly

On the war front three RoK divisions of 45,000 men had regained a mile of lost ground in the 20-mile Red bulge southeast of Kumhwa before halting at the enemy's main line of resistance below the Kumsong River.

American tanks, supported by big guns and planes, spearheaded the RoK counterattack.

The new Chinese blow fell east of Sniper Ridge and west of the Nam-Dae River, to the right of the wedge driven into Allied lines by 80,000 Reds earlier in the week.

American advisory officers said at least 10 Red battalions—more than a division—struck the RoK division on both sides and in the middle. One of the Communist battalions pushed 200 yards into RoK defenses on the left flank, but the right and centre flanks held firm.

The Chinese attack began about 7 p.m. and built up rapidly. It was preceded by 2,000 artillery and mortar shells—a comparatively small number.

"From now on it's going to be rougher," an American officer told United Press correspondent William Miller.

Plans envisioning large scale use of A-bombs were prepared in the Pentagon but shelved prior to the current series of truce talks, military sources revealed today.

President Eisenhower has sole authority under the law to order use of atomic weapons in war.

Nationalists Attack Red Island

TAIPEH, Formosa AP—Seaborne Chinese nationalist guerrillas attacked an important Red-held island off the China coast today in the biggest operation of its kind since nationalist troops abandoned the mainland in 1949.

Government officials said fighting was still under way. The raid was described as "very successful."

Target of the attack was Tnugshan Island between the China ports of Amoy and Swatow, about 150 miles west of Formosa.

Tungshan is an important control point for Communist coastwise traffic.

Authoritative sources here said it seemed likely that recent reports of Red troop concentrations on the Chekiang coast for a possible strike against the Tachen Islands might have been inspired by the Nationalists to divert Red attention from the impending raid on Tunshan hundreds of miles to the south.

MARGARET TURNS HOME

Lonely London Awaits Princess

LONDON (UP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend took up his new duties in Belgium today on the eve of Princess Margaret's return from Africa to what may be a "lonely" London.

Most London morning newspapers printed brief stories on Townsend's arrival Wednesday in Brussels, whose transfer has been described by part of the press as "exile" because of his rumored romance with Margaret.

Police were called to keep about 30 women back when Townsend arrived at the embassy.

Reports of an "impossible" romance between the 22-year-old princess, third in line to the throne, and the divorced commoner has spurred discussion and controversy throughout the Commonwealth.

Margaret and the Queen Mother are due back Friday from their tour of Southern Rhodesia. They will stop briefly at Entebbe, Uganda; Khartoum, Sudan; Beirut, Lebanon and Rome.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret today left this British self-government colony at the close of a 16-day tour.

With the smiling princess by her side, she paused at the top of the steps to the plane for a last wave to cheering crowds.

First stop will be Entebbe, Uganda, where they will attend a garden party before leaving for Khartoum in the Sudan. They are due at London airport Friday morning after a four-hour stop at Rome in the middle of the night.

During the tour, the Queen mother and the princess have travelled 1,146 miles by train and more than 500 miles by motor car.

We Climbed Mt. Everest

BY 'TIGER' TENSING

"Tiger" Tensing Norkey, the Sherpa who conquered Mt. Everest, is going back to India to teach young men to climb mountains. The world's highest peak has been scaled, but there are others just as difficult to master.

In the final article which he dictated to the United Press, checking back on each translation, he describes his plans for the future.

I cannot say if I will ever do any more high climbing.

My wife, I can tell you, is not in favor of seeing me up on the high mountains again. After the expedition was over and before coming to London, I went to see my mother at her home. She always worried about her only son and she too hates the idea of my climbing again.

But then you never know what the future will bring.

My first job after I return from London—and after I am free of all these receptions—will be to take charge as director of a climbing school in Darjeeling which the West Bengal government proposes to create. It is my desire to teach all the young men of India who want to be mountaineers.

What brought me to climbing mountains, especially Chomo Lung-Ma?

First of all, we can see the mountains from my native village of Tami in the Solo Khumbu district. Khumbu is a Sherpa province and the home of the Khumbu glacier.

My father had a great many yaks, and I used to follow the yaks up to say 14,000 feet. It was then that I first really saw the mountain.

My father used to point to it and say: "This is Chomo Lung-Ma." I thought what fun it would be to get to the top.

I was a poor boy in Solo Khumbu. All around me, everyone was poor. There was no school. There was no opportunity for me to learn to read and write.

I wish I could have had that opportunity. I send my two girls to school. Maybe when I return from London, I will have more time and I can study.

(Tensing speaks Nepali and Hindi, and some English).

In 1933, many of the men from our village went to Darjeeling. They came back and told many stories about the mountaineering expeditions they had worked on as high-altitude porters. I listened to them with interest.

Two years later, I heard stories again that they were asking for Sherpas in Darjeeling for a Himalayan expedition. This time I thought I was old enough so I left Tami and went to Darjeeling. I found that (Eric) Shipton was organizing a party.

When Shipton came around to pick the Sherpas, I stood aside. I was young and I thought I may not be recruited, but perhaps they still would let me go along with them to help.

Shipton called me to come. But the other Sherpas and climbers said "No, he is too young."

But Shipton let me join anyway and I was taken into the party.

Naturally, I didn't do much climbing that time. They gave me a few minor jobs. And lucky for me, this first expedition was to Chomo Lung-Ma, even though it was only a reconnaissance.

I was very well looked after by the Shipton party. I was very fond of them and they were fond of me.

AIR MASS DUEL

Heat Wave Coming? Well, Not Exactly

Heat wave coming up?

Well . . . "No" . . . says weatherman Bill Mackie.

Victorians, tired of a long, cold spring and looking forward to the city's usual balmy weather, took a jaundiced view of Mr. Mackie's opinion that a break in the current lengthy and obnoxious cool spell will be touch and go.

Mr. Mackie said today's warm temperatures of up to 70 degrees marked a "breathing spell" only in a fight for control of Vancouver Island's weather between two opposing air masses.

If a low pressure area from the Gulf of Alaska should break through a ridge of high pressure around Vancouver Island then Victorians can look forward to more cloudy and cool days, he said.

But if the high pressure ridge should ward off the low pressures, then Victorians may enjoy clear and sunny skies, he added.

The weatherman said for at least another day the temperature would rise to 70 degrees, but after that nothing was certain. He did not see any possibility of another heat wave hitting Victoria yet.

"We are more likely to get cloudy skies over the week-end," he said.

Canadian Girl Stabbed To Death in New York

Young Salesman Takes Life of Singer In Broadway Hit Show Then Shoots Self

NEW YORK (BUP)—A tiny blonde "hit show" singer was stabbed to death in her fashionable apartment today by a young salesman who scribbled an apology beside her body and then went home and shot himself through the heart.

Beautiful Florence Forsberg 25, her throat slit from ear to ear and her nude body stabbed in 14 places, lay between two beds in the neatly furnished apartment she shared with two concert pianists, presently on tour.

Fellow members of the cast of the hit musical "Wonderful Town" described the petite singer as "enchantingly beautiful" and "one of the nicest girls on Broadway." The players were stunned by her murder.

Scribbled in ink on a musical advertisement beside the singer's body were these words: "I'm sorry it had to happen this way, but I could not take it with all the liquor and affection. Les."

Some 40 blocks away, beside the body of Lester Johnsen, also 25, his mother and sister found another note which led police to the pretty soprano's apartment off Central Park.

"I killed or contributed to the death of an actress named Flo at 34 West 69th Std."

Miss Forsberg, a native of Fort Frances, Ont., had been singing in the chorus of the hit musical and understudying Edith Adams, the "Sister Eileen" to Rosalind Russell's starring role.

Johnsen's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Johnsen, said the couple had been friends for some time.

Neither had given any indication to friends of personal troubles, police said.

Timmins Miners Defy Court Order

TIMMINS, Ont. (BUP)—One thousand grim-faced miners defied a court order to stop picketing today in a "chips down" strike that threatened the entire Porcupine gold field.

The members of the Porcupine Mine Workers' Union tripled their lines around Broulan Reef Mine today.

They agreed unanimously at a mass meeting Wednesday night to risk jail terms rather than stop picketing.

Seattle Times Strike-Bound

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle local of the American Newspaper Guild CIO went on strike against the Seattle Times today in a dispute over wages and some other provisions of their contract.

Pickets were posted at all the entrances to the building housing Seattle's only afternoon newspaper.

The city also is served by a morning newspaper, the Post-Intelligencer, which has a later afternoon edition.

A guild statement said the guild seeks a 7.3 per cent increase. It said the Times has offered an increase averaging 3.5 per cent.

DAVIS CUP DRAW

MONTREAL (CP) — Mexico's Mario Llamas today was drawn to play Canada's Henri Rochon in the first singles match of the North American zone Davis Cup tennis tie between the two countries here Friday.

In the second singles match, 19-year-old Pancho Contreras will meet experienced Lorne Maine, 22, of Toronto and Vancouver.

IT WAS CAMP, NOT LAMP, SO PUZZLE PRIZE UP AGAIN

A good definition for holiday time fooled the bulk of Times crossworders in puzzle No. 16. To the definition "may need a supply of electricity, of course," the puzzle compiler gives the answer "camp." Most puzzlers answered "lamp." Due to this and others errors there were no winners this week, which means that puzzle No. 17, appearing Friday, Saturday and Monday will be worth $75, plus a $50 bonus if a winner is a regular subscriber. The correct answer to puzzle 16 is on page 11.

West Germans Reject Parley On Elections

BONN, Germany (UP) — A proposal by the East German Communists for an immediate conference on organizing all-German elections will be rejected emphatically by the West German government, it was announced today.

"One does not deal with puppets," a government spokesman said.

The East German cabinet proposed Wednesday night a "free all-German election" which would lead to unification of the country.

Observers here feel the East German proposal was made in an attempt to match the United States-British-French invitation to Russia for a Four Power conference of foreign ministers on Germany and Austria.

There is every indication, however, that the Western Powers—which are consulting the Bonn government in their moves—will sit tight until the Kremlin has replied to their notes suggesting a Big Four meeting.

Swiss Ready to Host Big-Four Conference

BERN, Switzerland (UP)—The Swiss government has agreed to play host to the proposed four-power foreign ministers conference if they can agree on Switzerland as a site, highly-placed sources disclosed today.

LONDON (UP)—A wax image of sex fiend John R. Christie went on exhibition in the Chamber of Horrors of Madame Tussaud's waxworks Tuesday, less than an hour after his execution.

PREMIER ACCUSED OF BAD FAITH

Government Employees Association Spokesman Critical of New Policy

The provincial government is not bargaining in good faith with the B.C. Government Employees' Association, Jack Maguire, the association's research director claims.

He was commenting on Premier Bennett's announcement of institution of a five-day week for about half B.C.'s 10,000 civil servants August 1. The remainder are scheduled to get the shorter week when details can be worked out.

"The government has not contacted us since negotiations broke off at the end of January, and our feeling is that the premier is not bargaining in good faith.

"It (the plan for a five-day week) looks very much like an offer we got from the old coalition government which the workers turned down," Mr. Maguire said.

The offer was turned down because the civil servants wanted a "five-day maximum 40-hour week" throughout.

The new proposal will mean that institutional and outside workers, who put in a 44-hour week, will have to compress those hours into five days. This means a nine-hour day for four days and an eight-hour day for the fifth day.

The association objects to Premier Bennett announcing the five-day week without giving the association an opportunity to express its views. Top officials consider the government is not bargaining in good faith because of this.

Author H. Belloc Dies From Burns

GUILDFORD, Eng. (UP) — Hilaire Belloc, 82, one of Britain's best-known contemporary authors, died today at a nursing home here.

The internationally-noted essayist, poet, historian and wit suffered severe burns last Sunday when he fell into the fireplace at the home where he lived with his daughter and son-in-law.

Westwood May Ask Special Court

Nanaimo Social Credit candidate Earle Westwood, who will appeal the county court ruling refusing him a recount, may ask for a special sitting of the Court of Appeal to expedite proceedings.

He told The Times from Nanaimo today he wants to get the matter settled as quickly as possible, and that his lawyer, Murray Reynolds, is in Vancouver today on the case.

He declined to state if he will definitely ask for a special sitting.

The Court of Appeal is not scheduled to sit again until Sept. 8. Its sittings are set by statute.

If a special sitting cannot be arranged, then the whole recount question will have to hang fire until September.

Hitchhiker Abducts Expectant Mother

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP)—An expectant mother who was abducted and apparently raped by a knife-wielding hitchhiker was found early today on a roadside near Medina, N.D. A short time later a man with her cheque book in his pocket was found wandering on a Medina street.

Officers said preliminary examination by a physician indicated Mrs. Albert Geigle, 33, wife of a Strasburg, N.D., grain elevator operator, had been raped. She is being treated in hospital for cuts, including a cut tendon.

Picked up in Medina was a man identified from a Canadian air force identification card as Donald Blackwell Argyle, 31, of Regina. He is being held without charge.

He told officers he couldn't even remember his name. In the pocket of the RCAF uniform he was wearing they found Mrs. Geigle's cheque book.

Geigle said his wife was on her way home from seeing a doctor. With her in the car were her three daughters, Carolyn, 3, Shirley Mae, 6 and Peggy Anne, 10; Mrs. Jake Feist and her 10-months-old son, Jimmy; and Mrs. John Unser, all of Strasburg.

The hitchhiker terrorized the women and children before abducting Mrs. Geigle as he held a knife "as big as a bayonet" to her throat and threatened to kill her.

After riding with the group for almost 50 miles, the hitchhiker suddenly pulled the large knife from under his jacket. He seized one of the youngsters and said he would stab her if the women and children would not stop screaming.

JUMPS FROM CAR

Mrs. Feist jumped from the car after it stopped and attempted to get passing motorists to help. She said drivers of six cars and four trucks hesitated long enough to see that a struggle was going on, then drove off without helping.

Also cut in the stuggle were Mrs. Unser and William A. Schwartz, a Bismarck insurance man who came to their help after the other drivers had passed them by. Schwartz was unable to wrest the knife from the hitchhiker before the uniformed man forced Mrs. Geigle to drive him down a lonely country road.

Strike Looms In Strategic U.S. Mines

DENVER, Colo. (UP)—Possible shutdown of the nation's strategic non-ferrous metals industry loomed today as members of the left-wing International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers began a two-day nation-wide strike call vote.

Officials at the union's national headquarters here issued a statement that negotiators with the country's chief copper, lead and zinc mining firms for a 15-cent-an-hour wage boost have entirely broken down.

Union president John Clark said he expected "an overwhelming majority" of the union's 100,000 members to vote in favor of a strike.

The union was expelled from the CIO in 1950 on charges it was dominated by Reds.

(The IUMMSW represents most of the organized non ferrous miners in British Columbia and Wednesday signed an agreement with the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail which called for no increase in wages over the 1952 agreement).

No Inquest Needed in Tot's Death

MINAKI, Ont. (CP)—A tiny plaid shirt, a pair of blue jeans, some underclothing and a few tufts of long brown hair were all that was left of five-year-old Geraldine Huggan.

The tragic end of an intensive search of mosquito-infested northwestern Ontario bushland came about noon Wednesday.

It was a hunch on the part of prospector Harry Hawes of Kenora that sent searchers back to the swampy area between Long Lake and Catastrophe Lake, about two miles southwest of Wade, where the child disappeared from her grandparents' cottage.

"There was not enough left for either a proper burial or an inquest," said Dr. D. J. Mason, coroner.

Signs of wolf hair on nearby bushes led to the conclusion the body was devoured about 48 hours before discovery.

Dr. Mason said death probably came from exposure followed some time later by mutilation by the wolves. There was no blood on the clothing.

Police said the area where the body was found was covered by searchers last Thursday and Friday. The child wandered from the cottage July 5 in search of flowers for her mother.

Iron Curtain Purge Grows Like Tornado

BY W. A. RYSER

LONDON (UP)—The Beria purge swept across the Iron Curtain today like a red tornado.

It left in its path fallen officials of Russia, Estonia and East Germany.

Down went Vladimir G. Dekanozov, once Soviet deputy foreign minister and until Wednesday a member of the Georgian Central Committee; Estonian Minister of Justice Ivan Ussenko, and East German Justice Minister Max Fechner.

Up went "Red Hilda" Benjamin, East Germany's most feared judge, as Fechner's successor.

In addition, there were indications a fourth minister—Z. I. Rapava, minister of state control of the Georgian Reublic—also had been fired.

The purge, according to indications, is only beginning.

In Berlin, Western officials believed the positions of East German Deputy Premier Walther Ulbricht and Security Minister Wilhelm Zaisser were insecure.

All of the officials named have one thing in common. They were known to have been supporters of purged Soviet Police Chief Lavrenti P. Beria.

The official report on a meeting of the Central Committee of the Georgian Communist party and the party organization at the Georgian capital of Tiflis said discussion of the "Beria" case lasted two full days—July 13 and 14.

A variety of accusations was brought against Beria. He was accused of "wishing to seize power for smashing the collective leadership of the party with the aim of destroying the Soviet Socialist state" and for endangering Georgian economy.

Commission to Hear Details of Crash Between Police Cars

Details of an accident on Glanford Avenue last Sunday night in which two Saanich police cars were damaged, will be given Saanich Police Commission at its meeting Friday night.

A car driven by Constable Robin Stewart, heading for an accident scene, was in collision with a car that stalled in its path. Another police car driven by Constable Harry Adams glanced off the other. Both police vehicles had sirens and red lights flashing at the time.

HE PROVED NO SIR WALTER

YAKIMA, Wash. (UP) — Mrs. Margaret Graham reported today that the age of chivalry is unquestionably dead.

After her car ran off into a ditch Tuesday night, a man in a passing car stopped and asked if she were hurt. She said she was not. The man drove off.

A few minutes later another car stopped and a man got out. He asked Mrs. Graham if she were hurt and she said she was not. He pushed her back into the ditch, took her purse containing $45 and drove away.

Bullets Smash Windows In Montreal Union Office

MONTREAL (BUP). — The United Mine Workers' Union disclosed today that pellets from a small-bore rifle smashed through windows of its business office in the downtown area Wednesday and linked the attack to jurisdictional trouble on the waterfront.

Capt. H. N. McMaster, president of the Union's Mariners' Divison local, said seamen on 15 Hall Company ships now were deciding whether to be represented by the UMW or the Seafarers' International Union, and he blamed this split for the rifle shots.

No one in the business office was injured.

"The attack may be the forerunner of something much more serious, and I feel there is a general strike shaping up that might tie up shipping all over Canada," McMaster said.

TREE SPRAY RACKET WORKED IN OAK BAY

Oak Bay police today confirmed a report that one or two groups are operating in that municipality falsely "selling" residents on the idea that trees and plants on their property need spraying.

"It is a racket," said Chief of Police Hugh Reston. A variation is the approach to a residence with a perfectly good chimney and convincing him the chimney requires repairs.

Chief Reston said that his men are investigating the fraudulent spraying case. He believes the operators are from the mainland.

Police point out, however, that about all they can do to these people, if caught, is to bring them to court for failing to have current trades licenses.

Fraud charges could be pressed if "victims" will provide the necessary evidence.

Socreds Will Appeal Ruling on Recount

Outcome of Court Action on Nanaimo Vote Will Have Bearing on Additional Ridings

NANAIMO—Social Credit candidate Earle Westwood will launch on appeal against County Court Judge L. A. Hanna's ruling denying a recount in this riding.

Ex-mayor Westwood, determined to get his recount, said he didn't think "technicalities" should prevent it.

The judge rejected the Socred recount request on the ground that Section 128 (1) of the Elections Act had not been followed. The returning officer, he said, had failed to return some of the ballots to their original envelopes.

The recount was opposed by Larry Giovando, Progressive Conservative, who won the seat by an 18-vote margin over CCF-er Dave Stupich.

The Socred candidate was defeated on the fourth count by 10 votes, necessitating dropping of his name from the contest instead of Dr. Giovando's.

Judge Hanna's ruling was similar to one made in Vancouver-Burrard during last year's election.

The judge ruled that an order-in-council, passed last May to overcome the difficulties by making it unnecessary to return the ballots to the original envelopes, is ultra vires.

The government took the action because it was claimed to be virtually impossible to return the ballots to the original envelopes after the transfer of votes.

WIDESPREAD EFFECT

Outcome of the appeal will have a definite effect on pending recounts in Lillooet and North Vancouver.

Mr. Westwood said he couldn't see any justice in the County Court ruling.

"I don't feel that technicalities should enter the picture. The people are entitled to a recount.

"I'm not casting aspersions on anyone, but when the human element is involved there can be mistakes.

"After all, there was only a difference of 10 votes in 10,000," Mr. Westwood said.

Finlayson Tory Nominee For Nanaimo

Aims to Restore Foreign Markets

NANAIMO — Deane Finlayson, Progressive Conservative party leader, on Wednesday night accepted his party's nomination to contest the Aug. 10 federal election in Nanaimo.

Nominated by Dr. Larry Giovando, MLA-elect, of Nanaimo, and Elaine Dobbin, Duncan, his name was the only one put forward at the meeting here.

"After 18 years in office the government has become arrogant, extravagant, and inefficient" the young party leader said on accepting the nomination.

"Examination of the facts would reveal it is not out of the way to reduce government expenditures by $500,000,000 per year, without harming the defense program or social services in any way," he said.

"After cleaning up government inefficiency, our second job is to restore foreign markets for our national products, especially in the United Kingdom," he said.

He promised to support plans to extend wharf facilities in Nanaimo, building of a breakwater at Ladysmith, and establishment of a Crofton-Vesuvius Bay ferry run.

"This is my home riding," he said, "and I have a strong desire to serve the people here regardless of political affiliations."

Oak Bay Water Bills Payable at 2 Stores

Oak Bay residents will be able to pay their monthly water bills at the Hudson's Bay Company's store hereafter. Residents have been able to pay their water bills at the T. Eaton Co. store since April.

Action was taken at Oak Bay Council Wednesday night to confirm the desire of the Hudson's Bay Co. accounting department to handle Oak Bay remittances.

It was moved that a new supply of stickers be attached to water bills informing residents that they may pay their bills at the down town department stores.

HILLARY HONEY BOOM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — There may be nothing in the idea that honey from the hives of beekeeper Sir Edmund Hillary gave him stamina to reach the top of Mount Everest, but New Zealand housewives think it is worth trying. Shops have been inundated with demands for Hillary's product.

BENNETT'S 'PM' BACKED BY FROST

By British United Press

Premier Bennett of B.C., who has been criticized for carrying an attache case with "Prime Minister" inscribed on it, was stoutly defended today by Ontario's chief executive, Leslie Frost.

Provincial leaders are usually called premiers, but in the Ontario provincial buildings and in the cabinet Frost is always known as the prime minister. He is always addressed that way in the house, even by the opposition. The words "Prime Minister" are on his office door.

Frost said the term "premier" was an adjective meaning first, and to call himself the first in the province was too much for a modest man.

He told a conference he would rather be known as the Queen's first or prime minister.

British Lift Blockade Of Suez Canal City

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—British authorities lifted their "blockade" of the Suez Canal city of Ismailia today and permitted Egyptian traffic to move freely.

The British took down the roadblocks they had erected last Monday and when the Ismailian subgovernor failed to answer an ultimatum for the return of a missing RAF airman.

All Egyptian vehicles had been stopped at machine gun manned barriers and searched thoroughly despite Egyptian officials' threats that the British were inviting trouble.

A British military spokesman officially announced the lifting of restrictions.

Only "suspicious" vehicles would be searched in the future, he said.

'OTTAWA SPHINX?'

TORONTO (BUP)—A Labor Progressive Party candidate called R. H. McGregor, Progressive Conservative member for East York, "The Ottawa Sphinx" last night.

"He hasn't spoke in Parliament in the 27 years he has been a member," Mrs. Arge Ferguson said.

Russia Expected to Offer Peace Treaty to Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Diplomatic sources here expect the Soviet Union to expand its peace offensive to the Far East and offer a peace treaty to Japan soon.

The Soviets probably do not expect to lure economically weak Japan to their side, but they hope to drive a wedge between Japan and the United States.

The Soviets attended the San Francisco conference in 1951 that wrote the peace treaty since ratified by most of the free world. But the Red delegates refused to sign.

Recently, as it has in other parts of the world, the Soviet attitude toward Japan has switched. In recent months, Russia has:

1. Opened a drive to increase trade between the two countries.

2. Slashed prices on such vital Japanese imports as coal to the point where Russia is probably breaking even at best.

3. Given the slumping Japanese shipbuilding industry a shot in the army by placing a large order for repair of Russian ships and hinting bigger and better orders are in the works.

4. Softened its once harsh attitude toward Japanese fishing ships that stray into Soviet territory.

5. Allowed Japanese war criminals to write home through Russian censorship that they "will be coming home before long."

LAVISH OFFICE

Andrei Dominitzky, commercial attache of the former Soviet mission here, has opened a lavish trade office and is entertaining business men with a free hand.

He offers good coking coal, an important industrial product, at about half the price of similar U.S. coal. Japan is importing 250,000 tons of the coal and is repairing Soviet ships in exchange.

Few Japanese business men make a secret of their belief that Japan must resume its large prewar trade with Communist China and the Soviet Union to survive the postwar economic crisis.

2 Die in Manitoba Training Plane Crash

LANGRUTH, Man. (CP)—Two men were killed today when their Harvard training plane crashed on a dive-bombing exercise at the air-to-ground firing range near Langruth on the west side of Lake Manitoba.

The craft was from the RCAF station at Macdonald, Man. The names of both men, believed to be an instructor and a student, were being withheld until next-of-kin have been notified.

The Ultimate Protectionists

IF THE MONETARY THEORIES of Social Credit are intentionally vague one aspect of the party's program is crystal clear—it is the most protectionist party in the modern history of Canada. It is the sworn enemy of abundant international trade. It makes the late R. B. Bennett, with his sky-high tariffs, look like a piker.

Mr. Low makes no secret about this. In his answers to questions submitted by Maclean's Magazine, he candidly announced that a Social Credit government would go in for a policy of outright protectionism by tariffs and by subsidies to Canadian industry.

"The policy," he says, "would be to encourage imports of goods wanted by Canadians which either cannot be produced at all in Canada or which cannot be produced in sufficient quantities in this country, and to discourage imports of goods that can be produced in sufficient quantities here to meet consumer demands, while providing Canadian producers full scope to expand their production in a home market equipped with adequate purchasing power."

The protection thus granted to Canadian industry, Mr. Low explains, would be provided in several ways: "First, by the reduction of freight rates for all-Canadian goods to a fraction of the present charges, the consequent loss to the railways being made good by means of subsidies; second, by a drastic reduction in taxation, thereby reducing production costs; third, by tariffs where necessary; and fourth, if circumstances so required, by the regulation of foreign exchange so as to withold foreign exchange for the purchase of imports that would damage the economy."

This statement deserves a second glance.

Mr. Low does not propose merely to halt the importation of cheap foreign goods. He would not import any goods that can be produced in Canada. It doesn't matter in the least to him, of course, that goods produced in Canada in many cases would be far more expensive than imports. Prices are of no serious concern to Social Credit for the consumer will be equipped with unlimited supplies of Social Credit money.

There is one small catch in this plan—as prices go up the value of dollars go down and all savings like bonds and life insurance are thus quietly repudiated.

Assuming, however, that the Canadian people are not worried about the high price of goods inefficiently produced in Canada and protected from all foreign competition, are not worried either about the decline in the value of their savings, the Social Credit trade policy would be ruinous to Canada.

Our economy is not self-contained and no government can make it self-contained. It depends on gigantic exports, the highest per capita in the world. If we refuse to buy foreign goods we cannot sell our own to foreigners, who cannot earn Canadian dollars with which to pay for them. And no matter how much phony money a Social Credit government pumps into circulation the Canadian people simply cannot consume all they produce.

The human anatomy, for example, must be re-designed and expanded before we can begin to eat our wheat, fish, and various other foodstuffs. We cannot possibly use all our newsprint, and forest products, nor the metals from our mines. If the great basic industries of Canada are to flourish they must always find abundant foreign markets, as they have been found under the present government, with the highest volume of trade ever known in a country of our size.

* * *

This, the primary and most obvious fact of our geography and resources, is ignored by Mr. Low because he depends on an inflationary outpouring of paper money to solve all our problems.

In his plan to isolate Canada from the world he goes much further than any Conservative statesman has ever dared to go. He would run the Canadian railways at gigantic losses, so long as they carried only Canadian goods, and compensate them by state subsidies, provided out of a fountain pen in the Bank of Canada. Then, if prohibitive tariffs and subsidies to Canadian industry failed to exterminate the evil of imports he would use the final weapon of exchange control. He would prevent Canadians from importing more goods than the government thought wise by refusing to give importers any foreign currencies for purchases abroad. This familiar device of socialism, interestingly enough, is proposed by the party which claims to be the only effective weapon against socialism.

However Social Credit may be presented, its policy of economic isolation, its repression of international trade, its disregard of prices, its war against the world market on which Canada and all other trading nations live, are not denied.

Since British Columbia is primarily a trading area, dependent for employment upon massive exports and imports, all its voters should easily understand what a Social Credit government in Ottawa would do to its economy. In plain terms the producers and consumers of British Columbia would be held to ransom by the protected industries of central Canada.

A Surplus of Imagination

IT NOW TURNS OUT THAT THE surplus which Mr. Drew condemns the government for accumulating not only failed to exist in the last year but in fact may be construed as a deficit.

Mr. Drew says the government over-taxed Canadians by $300 millions. By balancing the budget and eliminating the surplus he will cut that amount off the nation's tax bill instantly, easily, automatically. And Mr. Drew continues to make this promise even after Mr. Abbott issues figures showing that the surplus was only $24 millions, an insignificant amount in a budget of over four billions.

But even Mr. Abbott's small surplus is highly technical and depends upon how the government chooses to regard various items of expenditure and revenue.

The Financial Post points out that Mr. Abbott took $45 millions out of the provincial corporation tax suspense account and regarded it as revenue, which he was entitled to do. Without that amount the surplus of $24 millions would have been a deficit of $21 millions. Then there was a deficit of about $100 millions in the old age pension fund which was not covered out of revenue. Without this postponement of payment the deficit would have risen to $121 millions.

Accountants may dispute endlessly about bookkeeping methods but the obvious fact remains that the government of Canada has passed completely out of the era of budget surpluses and debt reduction. It has ceased the very sound practice which Mr. Drew is still attacking—apparently having failed to read the figures. As the politically neutral Financial Post remarks:

"Electioneering always brings out a lot of silly verbiage, but we have had far too much utter nonsense about the budget 'surplus' alleged to be some $24 millions. The silly thing about all this is that the uproar is about something which doesn't exist." The Post adds that there will be no surplus and possibly a deficit in the present year.

The surplus exists only in the imagination of Mr. Drew who, having disregarded the figures and distorted the nation's real position, claims to be the only man who can manage our finances properly.

Down-to-Earth Facts

WHEN A GOVERNMENT BEgins to claim credit for everything, you can begin to suspect it is responsible for nothing. And the same irresponsibility may be charged against any out-of-office party which says it only needs full authority to enable it to bring about a millenium.

There is a down-to-earth frankness that bears the hall-mark of sincerity and truth in the statement of Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, who spoke in Nanaimo earlier this week.

Mr. Abbott noted that the gross national product of Canada—$23 millions or better during the past few years—has been evenly spread over the whole nation rather than concentrated in any particular areas. The consequently "good" situation resulting, he said, "is not entirely due to Liberal policy, but to a combination of good luck, good geography, good people and good government."

That is a breeze of fresh, clean air in an election campaign that has become turgid and heavy with the hot breathings of the "only-we-can-save-you" boys. Good luck, good geography, good people and good government make a realistic combination difficult to beat, and the grandiose, messianic claims of Conservatives, Social Crediters or CCF'ers cannot hide the fact.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Mrs. Noggins Votes For Waldo

MY good neighbor, Mrs. Alfred Noggins, kindly paused today in the weekly task of cleaning out her henhouse to bring me up to date on local politics, after my long absence.

"Me, I'm voting fer Waldo," said Mrs. Noggins, "because 'e's the only candidate you can trust not to carry out the policies for which 'e stands four-square and unalterable. You can't trust any other candidates, they may weaken and do what they promise.

Bruce

"But Waldo tells us, frank and manly, that 'e's all fer Social Credit so long as it ain't taken serious. Yes, 'e stands for every Social Credit principle except Social Credit which, like a 'onest man, 'e indignantly rejects.

"WHY, says Waldo, the story that I'm in favor of the policy of my party is jest a cheap slander invented by the Tories that I always loyally supported till they began to lose elections. Those fellas 'ave no gratitude. They're tryin' to smear me as a Social Crediter, but the public won't believe 'em. The voters know my fixed and life-long principles, that can be altered to suit.

"No, sir, says Waldo, Solon Low and Manning and Bennett may all be fer funny money, the whole Social Credit party may be funny, but there's nothink funny about me. Yes, Waldo looked around to find the party 'e disagreed with most and nacherally joined Social Credit.

"SO 'e's all fer sound money that Low and 'is bright boys will manufacture with a fountain pen so long as the supply of ink 'olds out. In the kind of war we're now fightin' the pen is mightier than the sword.

"'Tis a war to save the country from the prosperity that's ruinin' the Canadian 'ome. When Canada is sufferin' 'elplessly from the biggest boom in 'istory tis surely time fer a change and we can trust Social Credit to change it. Yes, sir, when Low and Drew and Waldo and the other far-seein' statesmen of the day look at our risin' standard of livin' their 'earts bleed, and to cure this malignant disease they're ready to make any sacrifice, even to let themselves be elected.

"WHY, they're even ready to repeal the laws of arithmetic, and patriotism can go no further. So Drew promises to cut taxes half a billion while increasin' expenditures twice that much, and when the gover'mint can't make the figgers balance Drew replies, quite sensible, that the Liberals is jest bein' small-minded and technical.

"Look, says Drew, the country is reelin' to disaster under the load of the 'ighest national income ever known, the economy is exhaustin' itself workin' too 'ard and the soul of Canada is demoralized by too much money, and in the face of this crisis the gover'mint, if you please, argues about figgers. Wot can you expect from a gover'mint that still is tied 'and and foot by the cheese-parin' rules of mathematics? Leave the country to me, says Drew, and the figgers will look after themselves.

"AND, anyways, says Drew, the gover'mint is over-taxin' the people to pile up big surpluses and rejuce the national debt, as if that mattered. And when Doug Abbott turns up, empty-'anded with no surplus at all, Drew replies, with devastatin' logic, that 'e's not interested in figgers except the figgers of the election vote and they don't look any better than the surplus that's not there.

"And General Pearkes is stridin' through the wilds of Saanich pointin' an accusin' finger at the surplus long after its disappeared beyond the 'orizon, but 'e's too busy to notice, while promisin' to increase the govern'mint's budget in the interests of economy.

"BUT you can't fool the Social Crediters that easy. They're too sincere to tamper with the figgers, they know there's not 'alf enough money to pay for their expenditures so nacherally, like sensible, sound men, they'll do the obvious thing and manufacture more money at no cost at all, not even the price of paper to print it on, by signin' a few cheques at the Bank of Canada. The wonder is that nobody thought of that before, but polyticians is always pretty dumb.

"In the old days, before mankind 'ad grasped the miracles of science and was still prisoners of economic laws, counterfeitin' was illegal and the courts took a dim view of it. Why, they even put poor old Uncle 'Erbert in jail fer manufacturin' a few pound notes, though it was as pretty a job as you would care to see, for 'Erbert 'ad the artistic touch.

"BUT so long as the gover'mint counterfeits money and counterfeits enough of it why then it's perfectly legal. Poor 'Erbert's 'andful of pound notes landed 'im in the penitentiary fer seven years but Social Credit plans to do the job wholesale, in billions, and land in office fer life.

"And so," said Mrs. Noggins, "I'm votin' fer Social Credit principles, I want my national dividends paid every month, reglar, like Aberhart promised, but jest the same I'm keepin' my 'ens. I figger when Waldo and the boys 'as finished improvin' the currency and safeguardin' the money system with sound principles eggs will be worth a couple of 'undred dollars a dozen and then I'll be rich like I deserve. Or if the scheme don't work I can still eat eggs. I guess even Social Credit can't inflate an egg, though, as Waldo says, it 'as certainly laid one."

As Our Readers See It

CLARIFIED CONFUSION

In your July 13 issue, Mr. F. Lougheed says, "Social Credit proposes to cut prices (and subsidize industry to the extent of the cut"), and asks, "How can you have inflation when prices are falling?"

Evidently, if the price of a ton of potatoes established by a marketing board is $50, it is sold to the consumer at $40 and the producer gets the difference—$10—as a subsidy. From whom? Does the producer get $50 plus the $10 subsidy which makes $60? Otherwise why would Social Credit sell the potatoes to the consumer at $40 and then take $10 from him, as a taxpayer, to give to the producer?

Presumably just to levy a "hidden tax," which, according to the Manifesto of the S.C. Association, has "the effect of inflating prices and pushing up the cost of living." Even if the producer only gets the $50 price established by the board, the taxpayer has to pay the $10 subsidy in order to pay the producer the board price of the potatoes. Presumably Mr. Lougheed believes the $10 can be created "at the end of a fountain pen" by Social Credit.

As for parliament representing and not ruling: Who makes the laws? Who for instance would give authority to a monetary commission, appointed by a Social Credit government, to give $10 to a consumer as a discount and then take it away and give it to a producer as a subsidy? Not even "private enterprise" could be so foolish.

Perhaps Mr. Lougheed thinks the $10 discount or subsidy "reflects the facts of our ability to produce goods and services," but it certainly does not represent "the REAL BENEFIT received by either producer or consumer as an individual, according to Douglas, and the "increased real credit accruing to the community in general," from the production of one ton of potatoes, however real benefit is interpreted. Perhaps the Hon. Eric Martin can interpret.

L. WATERLOW.

THE PEOPLE WILL KNOW WHY

Ever since Social Credit was first expounded in 1918, and right down to the current election campaigns, the enemies of Social Credit's sound and stable money have waged a dirty campaign against it. You don't have to look far for examples.

In the 35 years since Social Credit's preliminary formulation, its enemies have never once faced up to the central fact of Social Credit monetary policy. (Some of its friends have also cut a few corners on this matter.)

It is this: If the quantity of money is geared directly to the flow of wanted goods and services there can be neither inflation or deflation; there will be a permanently stable dollar. The inflation and deflation previously noted were caused by failure of the present money system to do its proper job. I do not expect the enemies of Social Credit to face up to this basic principle in the coming federal campaign. I expect them to dodge the issue again.

Under Social Credit, a one per cent increase in production will automatically bring a one per cent increase in money volume.

A three per cent increase in production will automatically bring a three per cent increase in money volume, no more, no less. If there is no increase in production in any period there will be no increase in money. There will be no national dividend and the people will know why. I challenge anybody and everybody, here or anywhere else, to find in that proposition anything but the soundest of sound money.

Who'll Make the Break?

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, from Washington

IN THE early days of psychological warfare Washington was stirred by a heated dispute. Should the psychological warriors wear spurs? There were many, even outside the Senate, who were in favor of spurs because how else, they asked, could the warrior keep his feet from slipping off the mantelpiece?

Lippmann

The time has come, I feel, to revive the proposal. I would, however, be willing to compromise, if spurs are too expensive, on any other device which will cause the psychological warriors to take a back seat for a while and stay there.

For what goes by the name of psychological warfare in Washington these days is a sorry substitute for an effective policy. It is made up of stunts and statements, off the cuff reactions to the headlines, just formidable enough to annoy, to tease, to embarrass—like breaking window panes, writing insults on walls, or letting the air out of automobile tires.

The real damage is done not to the adversary but to ourselves. For the course of the most massive revolution of modern times will be little affected by pinpricks administered 5,000 miles away. But the prestige of the United States is affected by the comparison between the magnitude of these historic events and the trivialities which are directed at them.

Inside the Communist orbit large events are unfolding which we believe to be momentous but about which we know with certainty almost nothing.

We do not know who was who in the first act of the drama on which, so we hear, the curtain has just come down. We are not in fact seeing the play. We are an audience outside in the lobby. We cannot see the actors or hear anything that they say.

All we know is that the play must be a thriller because every so often there is a loud bang and somebody presumably is dead.

We have, nevertheless, a profound interest in the outcome of the drama. But we cannot hope to serve that interest by specific and immediate acts of intervention. They suppose an influence and a knowledge that we do not possess, and the net result is only a display of ignorance and impotence.

It should, therefore, be a first rule of our policy at this time that we are not trying to manage history, that we are not trying to play politics inside the dark caverns of the Kremlin, and that we are watching and waiting with composure and with confidence.

Such a posture of non-intervention in the immediate day-to-day flux of events is, I believe, the foundation of a good policy. We should avoid any appearance of having picked our favorite subversives within the Soviet empire. For the chances are that we shall pick the wrong favorite, and if we happen to pick a good one, the very fact that America had picked him would enable his enemies to ruin him.

There is, however, an even weightier consideration than this, and one, I would contend, which provides the true postulate of an effective policy.

Not knowing who is who and what he stands for in the U.S.S.R. today, we must ask ourselves what kind of man would he be who was at once willing, resolute and strong enough to participate in a movement to liquidate the Stalinist tyranny and the Bolshevist conspiracy.

Manifestly that is no work for weaklings, but for tough, proud, and formidable men able to draw upon the reserves of power in the Russian people. It is, I think, evident enough what kind of men they would have to be.

They would have to be the same kind of men who saved Russia from Hitler by turning the war, which was almost lost by the Communist regime, into a patriotic Russian war.

If and when the Bolshevik regime is radically altered, it is almost likely to be because there is a patriotic national demand that cannot be resisted.

Our business is to see to it that we and our allies take a position about our relations with the Russian state and nation that Russian patriots will recognize and respect. If we do that, they must do the rest. They, and not we, must do everything, that is to say, that is to be done inside the U.S.S.R.

If this is correct, then the principle of our policy is clear. It is to remove any implication that once again our terms are unconditional surrender; to distinguish clearly between the Stalinist regime and the Russian nation, to treat the one as an ugly, intolerable and transient phase and to recognize the other as enduring and of vital national interest to Russia.

All for One . . .

New York Times

FOR ANY soldier of any land and age there has been one classic source of trial and measure — the company he is forced to keep. After many years of picking among the thousands of humans the world confronts him with a man is suddenly squeezed somewhere into the great structure of a national army.

For the modern American soldier his niche is likely found for him by a Pentagon calculating machine which takes many things into consideration but not the fact that serial number 12190447 prefers reticent, thoughtful companions and 12190448 the talky, happy-go-lucky sort.

And this is understandable. The machine never met numbers 12190447—8.

The result, as far as the comfort of the soldier is concerned, is something like the result one would expect from running a chemistry laboratory with a roulette wheel.

There are occasional explosions and occasionally there are some exciting rich compounds. The explosions are strange things sometimes. The rich compounds are strange too.

A New Yorker, reared on stickball and mickies roasted in a lot, meets a Georgia boy whom he can hardly understand when he talks of hunting dogs and candied yams. But there is a communion of the spirit and the two become fast friends. One may come to give up his life for the other. That fast.

This ability to explode or merge is common to, and common knowledge to, all men. And now the army takes official recognition of the fact by setting up, where possible, four-man teams whose members will have a certain say in picking each other and in remaining together throughout both training and duty.

The number four has no mystical relation to the nature of friendship, but the army is still the army, and a certain arbitrary uniformity must prevail.

Giving soldiers more of a choice in choosing their friends won't keep any of the rich combinations from happening, and it may well avoid some of the explosions. We think it potentially a fine idea and hope it develops into an arrangement that works out to everyone's satisfaction.

Anonymous Attacks

Through your columns I should like to offer back to their rightful owners two anonymous letters recently received. I possess them illegally, for anonymous letters belong only to their creators.

These two were interesting, revealing and pathetic. One gave her husband's Christian names, withholding her address; the other, obviously a male, gave neither name nor address.

Both were Socreds and each took exception to my scoring of the injustice towards two recently-suspended civil servants, yet they feared to be known for this! Why?

There were a few personal insults which automatically boomeranged I expect. The male writer suggested I was "in the pay" of the Liberal party and hoped I was not an Englishwoman!

Since he reads your columns I proudly state I am an Englishwoman holding Canadian citizenship papers—that at no time have I ever been in the pay of any political party—that my husband, son and family fought for this country in which he lives, where "Liberal" principles uphold the British code of justice, and that I uphold that "freedom" that engenders "loyalty."

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

'A Bit of Auld Scotia'

ON Saturday of this week the Scots will come into their own in Victoria and we erstwhile Sassenachs who so often—and so fallaciously, we are told—allude to this particular paradise as "a little bit of England" will, I feel sure, be quite willing to concede "a little bit of auld Scotia" as an apt substitute for that day.

Nancy

For that is the day on which the "Macs" of every variety, the Frasers and the Farquhars, the Murdochs and the Murrays and representatives of all the other clans will descend on us from beyond the borders to take part in the Highland Games at Macdonald Park—and can you imagine a more appropriate place than that Scottish-named sanctuary?

One of my Scots friends—and I still have some, despite the cynical doubts of others of Scottish descent — was proudly telling me about it the other day. His burr became a little more pronounced and his eye dimmed with misty nostalgia as he recalled memories of Highland gatherings in his "ain countree" and prophesied that Victoria's own games would, in the fullness of time, approach the color and tradition of those old country gatherings.

The world-famous gathering at Braemar was established more than 100 years ago and is invariably attended by royalty. Centuries ago members of rival clans used to assemble to assert their supremacy by herculean feats. Thus was originated the traditional Braemar competitions of throwing the hammer—no ordinary tool, by the way, but a 4-foot gadget weighing from 16 to 22 pounds—and tossing the caber, which is a hefty tree trunk.

Furthermore, I learned that when a competitor in Highland games is throwing his weight about it doesn't mean what you may think it does, but involves throwing an iron ball weighing 56 pounds. However, Victoria's Highland games concentrate more on piping and dancing, and Scottish hearts will beat a bit faster and Scottish pride thrill to the skirl of the massed pipes and the whirl of the kilt as the pick of amateurs and professionals display their best form.

Incidentally, I haven't heard any echo here of the controversy, that has been raging in Scotland over the appearances of girl dancers at Highland gatherings complete with kilt and sporran, male-type doublets and regimental dirks. Following anguished protests—and lurid—by ex-sergeant-majors of the Black Watch and Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, certain Highland games committees over there have banned the wearing of male dress by girl dancers and insisted on a bodice and pleated tartan skirt.

It is hardly likely that the Victoria sponsors will follow suit and thus rob the girl pipers and dancers of their kilted glamour. No local scot or neo-Scot would stand for it. And I believe even some of us Sassenachs would join in the protest.

I am also wondering whether the Master of Ceremonies at Saturday's games will make the announcements in Gaelic. If he does he won't, at least, be met with a situation which occurred in the Scottish Highlands during a political cammpaign, when a Gaelic-speaking audience was addressed entirely in English. When asked for an explanation a village elder observed: "It would not be the thing at all. Gaelic is for serious matters, not for a frivolity like the politics."

FROM BERLIN

By STEWART ALSOP

No Russian Help for the Rebels

LAVRENTI BERIA was murdered in Berlin. He is unquestionably the most prominent victim of the revolution in Eastern Germany which started in the Soviet sector of Berlin. But viewed from Berlin, Beria's fate takes on an added, special meaning. Among all the puppet rulers and proconsuls everywhere in the Soviet Empire, there must now be a terrible fear and insecurity within the German Communist regime which three weeks ago led to the East German revolution.

Stewart

Take, for example, the present situation of Wilhelm Zaisser, the East German secret police chief, famous for his polished boots and his utter ruthlessness.

Like almost every satellite secret police chief, Zaisser is accounted a Beria man. There are now widespread reports here that Soviet proconsul Smeyenov has returned from Moscow to Berlin with orders to send Zaisser the way of Beria. The next victim may be, instead, the aged Pieck, the brilliant, evil Ulbricht, the oily turncoat Grotewohl—or even Semysnov himself who has also been accounted a Beria man.

Whoever may be next, in every satellite state, people must be asking who is safe and who is doomed, who really has power and who has none. When people begin asking such questions, a time of great danger has come for any police state.

It was because people began asking such questions that the Soviet zone of Germany has experienced a revolution.

It is important to understand the nature of this revolution. It was, to start with, a genuine revolution. Its objective was to seize power, not from the Soviets but from the German Communist regime. Within the limits of this objective, the revolution succeeded.

On June 17, in city after city, the writ of the Communist regime simply ceased to run. Premier Grotewohl has himself admitted, in an unguarded moment, that power was restored to the regime only thanks to "Our Russian Brothers"—for which read Soviet tanks and troops.

The oddest aspect of this revolution was that it precisely followed the pattern which Marx and Engels used fondly to forecast—and which (except perhaps more than 80 years ago, at the time of the Paris commune) never really happened on earth, until last month.

Marx and Engels set two main conditions for a "revolutionary situation." One was that the lot of the oppressed workers should become intolerable. The second was that their oppressors should become confused and indecisive.

In East Germany, the first condition has existed for years. The second condition was met only last month when, on June 11, the whole policy of the German Communist puppet regime was suddenly thrown into reverse by the Kremlin.

Many workers' leaders, themselves devout Marxists, had the monumental naivete to expect the revolutionary Russians to applaud and approve their successful application of Marxist-Leninist principles. Instead, of course, the Red army crushed the uprisings in a matter of hours.

The Red army can do the same job again anywhere in the Soviet Empire at any time. There should be no illusions on this score. Yet the fact that the Red army had to do the job in Germany is itself enormously significant. The East German uprising proved to the Soviets the worthlessness in a moment of crisis of their local instruments of power, the German "peoples' police," and the "peoples' army."

If the job has to be done agaain in Germany, it will again have to be done by the Red army—and what is true of Germany is almost certainly true elsewhere. As this is written, the Kremlin is still attempting to shore up its artificial puppet regimes by continuing the policy of "easement for the populace." But here in Germany, at least, the workers' appetite has grown by what it has fed on. Already, the word is being passed in the factories, "again in August."

IN HOLLYWOOD

By CLEMENT JONES

McCrea Likes 13-Party Phone

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—You think your life is a goldfish bowl?

Pull up the shade a little higher then, and listen to the story of a Hollywood movie star all tangled up in a 13-party telephone line.

The unhappy hombre is Joel McCrea, the strong, silent leading man of many a movie-town adventure film who spent the past 10 years of his life on a secluded cattle ranch with no distractions, no mortgage and no telephone.

A couple of weeks ago the Ventura county telephone people beat their way into his bucolic retreat and announced triumphantly that he and 12 other people in the desert wilderness were now on the border of civilization. They would get phone service the following Monday.

Neither rain nor sleet nor cow pasture roads stopped the boys with the poles and the coils of wire on their appointed rounds. That Monday afternoon McCrea got his instrument right on schedule.

It's one of those vintage beauties that you hang on kitchen walls. It has a bell which ranch hands can hear over in the adjoining 40 acres and the latest thing in crank handles. They told McCrea to answer when he heard six long rings and a short and to watch the crank handle. It came off in dry weather.

McCrea fondled the instrument lovingly for a few minutes, then tried an exploratory exercise on the crank and put in a call to his agent in Hollywood.

"It was the first time my agent, a man who is on the telephone most of the day, ever talked to 13 people at once," says McCrea in relating what happened when he turned the crank. "People I've lived near for 10 years but whom I've never met, suddenly got as sociable and as interested in my life as my best friends.

"All of them now know that I'm starring in a picture at Universal-International called 'Border River.' They know Yvonne De Carlo is my leading lady and that I like to take a nap in my dressing room during the lunch hour. Most of 'em know what my salary is and what my agent's cut is and how the boys are doing in school."

McCrea, in analyzing the situation, says that the new telephones in the neighborhood are probably the answer to television.

"I can't say that I blame the neighbors," says the actor. "There's no TV reception in the district and it's the only entertainment they get."

"And you know," he said in a confidential tone, "some of the things you hear on the darned thing are actually better than some television shows."

ALBERNI—Board of trade will launch an effort to construct a small boat basin to serve the city, since funds for the project have been appropriated by the federal government.

Delay has been caused through reluctance of William Dobbin, landowner at the mouth of Kitsucksis Creek on the basin site, to sign a quitclaim for damage to his property.

The board authorized a letter to Mr. Dobbin promising him its support if he found it necessary to take action for any such damage.

Coyote Attacks Truck, New Outbreak of Rabies Feared

CALGARY (CP).—Possibility of a further outbreak of rabies in the Calgary district is being investigated, Dr. H. C. Storey, federal veterinarian here, said Wednesday.

Behaving in a wild manner, a coyote leaped from a ditch to attack a passing truck near Airdrie, 25 miles north of Calgary, Monday night. The animal was killed by a following car.

The coyote's head was sent to the Lethbridge laboratory for examination.

"It is certainly suspicious," said Dr. Storey, "since such antics are not normally expected of coyotes."

ACCIDENT TOLL JUMPS

EDMONTON (CP).—A 25-per-cent increase in traffic accidents and a jump of 49 per cent in the death rate for the first six months of 1953 was reported Wednesday by the Alberta Safety Council.

By the end of June, 82 persons had been killed in 7,857 accidents. Noting that 18 fatalities occurred on country roads in June while there were none in the cities, the council issued warning precautions to travelers taking rural routes.

BUS STRIKE MAY END

REGINA, Sask. (BUP)—Saskatchewan Labor Minister C. C. Williams said today the 17-day Saskatchewan Transportation Company strike might be ended this week.

The minister made the statement following Wednesday night's meeting of the negotiation committees of the company and the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL).

The two-hour session was adjourned, however, without agreement. It was the second meeting of the day and another session was scheduled for today.

The latest settlement proposal made some wage concessions to terminal and mechanical employees but withdrew the earlier offer of a reduction of hours recommended by a conciliation board report.

The conciliation board report, turned down by the union, recommended a reduction in the work hours of terminal and mechanical employees from 44 to 40 a week. Williams said the new offer, now under discussion, would leave the hours unchanged at 44, but give the men a 10 per cent increase in pay.

CHUCKWAGON RACES

EDMONTON (CP) — The defending champion Johnny Phelan outfit from Red Deer turned in the best time Wednesday night in the chuckwagon races at the Edmonton Exhibition.

Phelan's time was one minute and 15 seconds, or three-fifths of a second faster than the time needed by the Commodore Allen rig from Vulcan.

The Phelan rig, driven by Ronnie Glass, moved into second place in the aggregate times with three minutes, 54 2-5 seconds, or two seconds behind the Cliff Ross outfit from Edmonton.

The 16 outfits with the best times for five nights will qualify for the Saturday finals and a shot at the $1,000 first-prize money.

QUOTAS SET

WINNIPEG (CP)—The canadian wheat board said Wednesday that effective Aug. 1, 1953, durum grades of wheat and flaxseed will be on an open quota basis.

Delivery quotas for the 1953-54 crop year will apply on wheat, other than durums, oats, barley and rye. These will be based on a specified acreage for each farm.

The specified acreage figure is determined by adding to the total seeded acreage for each grower of wheat, oats, barley and rye in 1953 the total acreage for summer fallow that year. Since there is no delivery restriction on durum varieties this year, that acreage is not included in the calculation.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUMMARIES

Base Metals Advance But Rest of List Mixed

TORONTO (CP)—Prices faded narrowly toward the close of today's dull stock market session.

Industrials failed to maintain Wednesday's firm stand as they slipped back to mixed prices along with western oils. Golds weakened slightly but base metals opposed the trend to post a small index gain.

In industrials, gains outran losses but weakness in key papers, utilities and textiles set a mixed tone for the group.

Golds traded quietly at weaker prices as seniors made small advances, holding companies were mixed and juniors weakened.

WEST OILS SLIP

Western oils turned softer as Prairie Oil and Gas slipped 20 cents to a new low of $2.25 while Royalite and Gridoil faded.

Base metals injected a little life into a dull market as higher-priced issues led the group to firmer ground.

Montreal Advances In Light Dealings

MONTREAL (CP)—The stock market pushed higher in light afternoon dealings today. Changes were small.

Steels, senior oils, beverages and miscellaneous industrials shared the power while carriers and banks were steady to higher. Senior metals, papers and utilities were well mixed.

Atlas, Seagrams, Canadian Celanese, Dominion Textile, Imperial Oil, McColl-Frontenac, St. Lawrence Corporation, Consolidated Smelters and Hudson Bay Mining were firmer.

Mines were active and irregular while western oils remained steady. American Yellowknife, Rexspar and Western Tungsten advanced.

Aviations Up Rest Steady

NEW YORK (AP)—In the midst of extremely quiet trading, the stock market today held steady.

One of the features of an otherwise almost featureless day was higher prices for aircraft shares.

Aircrafts, led by Douglas, were up around two points at times but fell back well under their best.

The remainder of the list moved small fractions either way.

Canadian stocks were lower. Canadian Pacific, Dome Mines, International Nickel and Distillers Seagram fell ⅛.

On the American stock exchange, Giant Yellowknife lost ⅛; Lake Shore and Royalite Oil were unchanged.

Western Tungsten Up at Vancouver

Prices were irregularly mixed during this forenoon's light trading on Vancouver Stock Exchange. Western Tungsten was 2.30 bid at noon, a 10-cent advance over Wednesday's sales. Beaver Lodge traded at 1.04, up four, but at noon was marked at 1.00-1.04. Del Rio, at 2.30, showed a five-cent decline. Giant Mascot continued to advance, gaining two cents to 49.

Oils—Altex 30-39, AP Con. 27-33, Charter 1.40-1.48, Del Rio 2.25-2.30, Gas Exploration 1.00-1.10, General Pete A 5.50-6.00, Hargal 6-7, McDougall Segur 20-22, Mercury 13-15, New Superior 2.90-3.00, Peace River Natural Gas 6.40-7.00, Royal Canadian 13-13½, Sunset 27-29¾, Trans-Empire 2.60-2.75, Vantor 23-24, York 35-40.

Mines — American Standard 18-19, Base Metals 25-28, Beaver Lodge 1.00-1.04, Caribou 1.00-1.20, Cronin 10-10½, Estella 56-60, Dorreen 22½-24, Giant Mascot 49-52, National Exploration 46-50, Pacific Nickel 85-88, Pato 3.40-3.70, Quatsino 27-30, Rix Athabaska 1.90-2.00, Sil-van 46-49, Silver Standard 95-98, Taylor Bridge 27-30, Western Tungsten 2.30-2.40.

London Prices Firm, German Bonds Gain

LONDON (Reuters)—Firm conditions prevailed in most sections of the stock market today.

Apart from the undated stocks, gilt-edged issues made further headway to show gains of up to 3/16.

Industrials were improved with gains ranging to sixpence in the better-class issues.

German issues featured the foreign bond market with rises of a point or more.

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Export interest in barley highlighted trade today as most prices displayed a firm undertone in dull trading on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Rye was the weak spot.

Trade reports indicated a cargo of Canadian barley was sold to Ireland, while small amounts went to the United Kingdom. This business brought out processor demands.

This Market Different From Past

But Opportunities to Profit Still Exist

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Don't feel too badly about this new economic body forming since 1942 because time will heal and solace, a market expert advises.

The analyst for Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. finds that each generation builds its own economy.

In a psychological sense, he says, the period from 1932 to 1942 was one of convalescence, "involving the shedding of the old and the formation of a new economic body."

In this new economic period, the market has fallen off in volatility, he notes. To date in 1953, the ratio of the Dow-Jones industrial high to its low is 1.12. Last year it was 1.15 and the year before 1.16. From 1898 to 1952 it averaged 1.42.

In the six years—1947-1952—the ratio of the high to low in the industrials has averaged 1.18, ranging from 1.24 in 1949 down to 1.15 in 1952.

COULD HAPPEN AGAIN

He recalled the bull market of 1915-16. This was preceded by a six-year period when the volatility averaged 1.23. A similar sequel could happen again, he ventured, adding:

"The time is coming when one can expect a wider degree of fluctuation in stock prices generally and the wider swings should result from higher rather than lower prices."

The same thing applies to volume, he notes. Stock exchange activity dried up in the years preceding the First World War. This, he explains, was partly the result of the disillusioning panic of 1907 and the ensuing demand for reform, resulting in the Hughes and Pujo investigations.

After the First World War, interest picked up until better than a billion shares turned over in 1929.

Then came the crash and its aftermath—"the impact of the new social concepts as expressed by the New and Fair Deals and the Second World War—with the inevitable liquidation of many old concepts and ideas. In the process stock exchange activity dropped in 1942 to 126,000,000 shares, lower than at any time since 1918.

"Years may elapse before anything approaching 1937-38 will overtake business and the markets. Another 1929-32 is unlikely to be witnessed by any present adult. Meantime, the market will go on offering many attractive opportunities for investment."

West Provides Only Third of CPR Revenues

C. E. Jefferson, CPR's traffic vice-president, now touring the West, takes issue with statements that railway freight rates increases during the last five years have been more burdensome to western provinces than to eastern.

Although the "cumulative mathematical increase in freight rates from 1948 amounted to 98 per cent," the actual yield to Canadian Pacific was only "79 per cent in eastern Canada and only 55 per cent in western Canada," Mr. Jefferson says. Reason for this lies in the fact the increases do not apply to competitive rates.

He also points out that CPR's eastern mileage, constituting 34 per cent of the system, produced 64 per cent of the company's net revenue last year while the western mileage, 66 per cent of the system, produced only 36 per cent.

CAREFUL CHECK IS SUGGESTED

Canadian National Institute for the Blind's local representative, Miss Dorothy Stark, has asked Chamber of Commerce to suggest its members should make a careful check about the justification of any appeal on behalf of the blind before subscribing. Miss Stark emphasizes CNIB, a member agency of Victoria Community Chest, "is making no public appeal for funds in Greater Victoria at this time or in the foreseeable future."

300 Men Fight 800-Acre B.C. Timber Fires

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ten bulldozers and 300 men are battling leaping flames that have destroyed 800 acres of timber since Sunday in an area near Cranbrook, some 300 miles east of here.

B.C. forest service officials said the fire started in a green timber limit on Teepee Creek and spread rapidly through timber and old slash. Much of the district already has been logged but it was believed some valuable jackpine was destroyed.

The blaze still was being whipped by strong winds and defied all attempts by tired firefighters to bring it under control.

Forest service men also said a large number of sport fishermen visited the area Sunday, and it is thought that one of them may have started the blaze through carelessness.

Meanwhile, cloudy weather lessened the fire hazard in the sprawling Vancouver fire district, which includes Vancouver Island. Several small fires were burning, but were under control.

Colleagues Honor Long-Time Servant Of B.C. Govt.

An engraved silver tray was presented to Mrs. Claire G. Scott, executive member of the local branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, Wednesday, on her retirement from the executive.

Employed for 25 years with the vital statistics branch, Mrs. Scott has been transferred to the office of the official administrator at Vancouver, effective Monday.

Mrs. Scott has been a member of the local executive of the association since its formation in 1944.

Frank Carr, president of the branch made the presentation at association headquarters and lauded Mrs. Scott for her "splendid work."

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

By L. G. ROBINSON, DDS

Visit to Dentist What You Make It

(This is one of a series of articles prepared by the B.C. Dental Association as a public service.)

"Doctor, my child has had an awful toothache for over a week. He howls with it every night, and we just can't get any sleep!"

Do you think that couldn't happen? Well, it does, and it's not a rare occurrence.

Do you want your child to make its first visit to the dental office under those circumstances?

There are many reasons why Junior should make his first trip to the dentist soon after the first set of teeth is in place.

PLEASANTNESS SOUGHT

Perhaps most important is that he should make the acquaintance of the dentist and his office under pleasant circumstances—not as a result of pain or distress. The dentist and his nurse will show the child around the office, explain the instruments and their uses, and perhaps let him watch something being done for mother. That way, he learns that the matter of caring for teeth is just routine. He takes away a pleasant memory of the occasion, and looks forward to the time when he, just like mother and dad, will have his own appointment to have his teeth examined and cleaned.

At this examination, the dentist may find pin-point spots of decay that can be quickly and easily corrected.

Perhaps some irregularity that could lead to serious trouble later may be found early enough so that steps may be taken to remove the cause. We shall have something more to say about these irregularities in a later article.

X-rays may be taken at this time — especially if it seems likely that certain conditions may cause crowding or other incorrect formation of the foundation teeth. The X-ray "eyes" make it possible for the dentist to see what is going on under the gum surface.

When children are making their first acquaintance with the dental office and dental treatment, it is vitally important that parents should be careful about any inflection in the voice, heavy sighing or other evidence of distress as they tell someone within hearing of the child, "I have to take Tommy to the dentist." Too often, grown-ups vie with one another on telling ghastly details of exaggerated or imaginary sufferings in the dental chair before the alert ears and eyes of the impressionable child.

Fear of dentists, psychological studies tell us, is learned mostly from others. In these days of good anesthesia and modern methods, such fears are groundless.

Oak Bay's Reeve Lauds Taxpayers

Oak Bay taxpayers were given tribute by Reeve Archie Gibbs at Council meeting Wednesday night.

Tax collection figures for the first half of the year showed that 93.123 per cent had been collected, higher than ever before, the Reeve said.

"This is a tribute to our taxpayers," Reeve Gibbs said.

The amount collected to date is $163,909.34 as compared to $585,368.58 last year.

Traps used to catch tsetse flies in South Africa look like cows. Set up in infested areas, the large frames, covered with light-colored burlap, have helped reduce tsetse-fly disease among livestock.

Popularity of New Fuel Grows

Everybody is talking about the new fuel now available to the residents of Greater Victoria and district. The popularity of Pres-to-logs has mushroomed into Victoria's most popular solid fuel.

The phenomenal demand for Pres-to-logs is readily understood. It has everything the discriminating fuel user has hoped for.

Being manufactured from Douglas fir, by the Plywoods Division of the B.C. Forest Products plant in Victoria, makes this marvelous fuel readily available to the householders at all times.

The raw material is pressed through a die by thousands of pounds of pressure, compressing 7 to 8 pounds of material into a round log measuring 4 inches by 12 inches.

There are 240 Pres-to-logs to a unit, which only takes up 30 cubic feet of storage space. The extreme pressure drives off most of the volatiles, leaving practically a smokeless product having less than 1% ash.

They are clean to handle, and are ideal for garbage burners, ranges, fireplace and furnace use.

Some users report 2 Pres-to-logs placed in the fireplace, lasting up to 7 hours. Little wonder the housewife welcomes this new wonder fuel to Victoria.

Pres-to-logs are delivered into your basement by Victoria Wood & Coal Co. Ltd. More information can be had by phoning them at G 2441.

Irish Shoot the Works; Jackie Joker in Deck

Boxla Action at Its Sparkling Best

A crowd of over 3,000 left Memorial Arena late Wednesday night still shaking from the excitement of one of the finest games seen here in many a day. The PNE Indians, Victoria Shamrock's toughest competitor for the Intercity Lacrosse League lead, extended the Rocks down to the wire before the Irish pulled out an 8-7 victory. This third period scramble for the ball was typical of the all-out action. Indians Stan Joseph, Gordy Nickle and Joe Durante (left to right) surround a rolling ball while Whitey Severson tries to grab it while lying on the floor and Tommy Druce draws a bead on all three Indians. (Times photo).

Rocks Down Indians to Gain Eight-Point Lead

Shamrocks 8, Indians 7

By DENNY BOYD

They played money lacrosse at Memorial Arena Wednesday night and when the best game of the Intercity League season was over, it was the Victoria Shamrocks who had the most blue chips, thanks to the astute banking of stockholders like Jackie Northup, Jim Hetherington and Al Gill.

The air at Memorial Arena was heavy with the smell of the green stuff that accompanies favorable playoff positions, and those positions were the stakes in a game in which nothing was wild but the refereeing.

The Shamrocks, who can still win 'em when they need 'em, picked up a pulse-pounding 8-7 win over the PNE Indians—the same Indians who always can be counted on to deal nothing but jokers when the season closes and playoffs draw near.

But the Shamrocks, who want things to stay as they are, sat on a pat hand and raked in the chips when Jackie Northup exploded a goal with 11 seconds left that broke a 7-7 tie, gave Shamrocks the victory and an eight-point lead that augurs well for them in their hopes of snaring their third straight league crown.

Northup's goal ended a great duel between two clubs which were "up" for this vital game. Tension ran high and tempers at times were at the same plane.

The inept, hesitant and indecisive officiating of referees Bill Wilkes and Fritzie Cavallin was the only dark spot in an otherwise entirely pleasing game. The referees let too much go in the early parts of the game with the result that interference on the part of both teams was flagrantly violated.

Jim and Stan—Guardsmen Deluxe

Rocks' Jim Hetherington and Stan Joseph, the Wooden Indian, staged a rousing goal-tending duel. For Hetherington, it was one of the finest games he has turned in since donning Shamrock livery. He allowed only two goals in the first three-quarters, faltered momentarily in the fourth frame when penalties left the Irish short-handed but had the answers when the final verdict was in question.

Ed Bell beat Hetherington on the short side at 4.54 of the first frame but Larry Booth and Gill sniped to give the Irish a 2-1 lead at the end of the first quarter. Gill's uncanny knack of snaring loose balls saving the Shamrocks on numerous occasions.

Sarge Sammartino and Larry Booth scored around an Indian goal by Mario Crema in the second frame and the Rocks had a 4-2 lead at the half.

After Sammartino and Bob Monaghan scored early goals in the third quarter to give Shamrocks a 6-2 lead, things appeared to be copacetic on the Irish front as the last heat started.

First Ken Jones, then Mario Crema and then Bob Lee scored for Indians, the first two coming while the tribe enjoyed a man advantage, and the Shamrock lead dwindled to 6-5.

Booth scored the seventh Irish counter on a long sleeper pass and once more Irish partisans relaxed.

But Gordie Nickle scored from the face-off following Booth's goal and it was 7-6 for the Irish.

This Was Jackie's Payoff Shot

And then, at 9.20, Mel Jones used Nickle as a perfect screen to whip in the goal that tied it at 7-7.

Shamrock coach Red McMillan, shooting the works for a rich kitty, used five forwards in an attempt to get the one goal that would make fans forget about the other 14.

The clock was ticking out it's last one-minute run when Northup, who hadn't been able to do a thing until this point, received a pass near the corner.

Twisting and dodging, he looked for a hole in the Indian armor. He found it. A quick shot to the upper left-hand corner and the Shamrocks had won the toughest battle they have faced all year.

The victory was hard-gained by the Rocks, who absorbed terrific punishment.

Norm Coates almost lost part of an ear and two stitches were required to close a deep stick-gash. Tommy Druce had his finger badly bruised; Severson, the "target for tonight" nursed bruises on his arm, knee, nose and mouth; Monaghan sustained a gashed ear and Gill a scalp gash and bruised elbow.

Doug, incidentally, arrives Saturday. . . . Another athlete who slipped into town recently is Norm Forbes, who made a name for himself at the University of Oregon this spring as baseball pitcher of note. . . . Norm hooked up with Farmers Construction, which is rather a pity as Farmers have yet to taste defeat and his acquisition will make the task that much more difficult . . . it would seem that some suitable method could be devised to arrive at a better league balance. . . . SUPPORT THE SOLARIUM DERBY.

The senior league needs competition in order to survive and with one club being loaded out of all proportion to the others, the calibre of play is suffering as a result. . . . However, that's the penalty for success. . . . For fight fans who have been asking where to secure tickets to the Harry Mathews-Don Cockell heavyweight fight in Sicks Stadium, Seattle, Aug. 7, the answer is: Sherman Clay or the Seattle Boxing Club, 110 Cherry Street, Seattle . . . prices are $10, $6 and $3. . . . It will be the first outdoor boxing show in Seattle in more than a decade and indications are that the bout may break all Northwest records for attendance and gate receipts. . . . It's tough enough for some people to get on the weekly ladder of the Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, but here's the best yet: Fellow phoned up the office to complain that his name had been spelled wrongly after he had spent four weeks trying to get on the list and that he would appreciate it if same could be corrected. . . .

Walker

However, when the list was checked the next day, the name was no where to be found . . . the fellow had been knocked off overnight . . . now no one will believe him that he was on the ladder, if only for a day. . . . SUPPORT THE SOLARIUM DERBY. . . .

A note in the mail contains the information that Ed Garner recently hooked a 38-pound spring at Prince Rupert . . . his second and third best went 31 pounds and 18 pounds. . . . It may be a long-range glance into the crystal ball, but it would appear from this distance that the Shamrocks hopes of a Mann Cup berth hinge on three factors. . . . 1. a tighter defense . . . 2. a better balanced third forward line . . . 3. the ability of the two goalkeepers Jim Hetherington and Dave Unwin to rise to the occasion that will be demanded of them in the clutch . . . SUPPORT THE SOLARIUM DERBY.

* * *

Those who were fortunate enough to get a glimpse of the video showing of the Major League all-star game Tuesday saw the reason why Enos "Country" Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals is rated one of the greatest players in the game today. . . . Slaughter's diving catch of Harvey Kuenn's line drive was the defensive play of the day. . . . AND DON'T FORGET TO SUPPORT THE SOLARIUM DERBY. . . .

Some parents of little leaguers may know of the 11 main points contained in the contracts of their baseball playing sons, and others may not. That's why we'd like to print the 11 basic rules as we feel they should apply to all young men.

The contract reads as follows:

Each player understands that he will:

"Brush his teeth at least twice a day.

"Keep his entire body clean and neat at all times.

"Drink plenty of milk, eat wholesome food and be a gentleman at all times.

"Never use profane or abusive language.

"Attend school regularly and strive to improve his education.

"Respect the rights and property of others.

"Never display temper, and maintain a fine sense of humor at all times.

"Follow the rules of good sportsmanship and fair play in athletics and all other activities.

"Respect, co-operate and try to understand parents and supervisors at all times.

"Work for leadership in clubs and organized activities in school, church and neighborhood.

"Never feel inferior or discouraged; pray, attend church regularly and always have faith in God."

AND DON'T FORGET TO SUPPORT THE SOLARIUM DERBY SO THAT WEAK LEGS MAY WALK. . . .

ROCHON, MAIN NAMED IN DAVIS CUP SINGLES

MONTREAL (BUP)—Henri Rochon of Montreal and Mario Llamas of Mexico will open play in the North American Zone Davis Cup tie Friday with Lorne Main of Vancouver and Toronto meeting Pancho Contreras in the second singles match.

The draw was announced shortly before noon after Enrique Noguerra, acting Mexican consul-general, lifted the names out of a silver trophy in a ceremony at the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

The Mexican choice of Contreras for one of the two single berths came as a surprise, since speculation during the week centred on his team-mate, Rafael Ortega.

SIXTH-WEEK BONUS

Seven-Pounders Add Extra Ladder Rungs

A total of 309 fishermen have thus far qualified for the final fishoff — August 23 — in the $4,000-prize ladder derby of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association in Saanich Inlet.

Sixth-week competition saw 58 qualify for the "big day." While there are only 50 rungs in each weekly event, the ladder was stretched to eight more rungs because of the nine persons who weighed in identical-weight salmon—seven pounds.

BEST OF WEEK

Top fish of the week were recorded by George Wale, 31 pounds; Fred Curle, 25 pounds; J. Lachmund, 24½ pounds; and Ken Dicks, 24½ pounds. They were strictly after the weekly prizes, having earlier qualified for the fishoff. Seventh week competition is now on.

Wednesday catches saw Fred DeWitt's 11½-pounder tops so far in the new weekly event. W. F. Heath weighed in a nine-pounder; A. Atkinson, 6½; S. R. Bell, 6; and Tom Harper, 5¾.

Brand Still Master; Gains Singles Final

Carl Brand, holder of several city tennis championships in former years, showed plenty of his earlier form Wednesday night to knock from further title competition highly-rated Peter Peacock. Brand won 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

Brand's victory was a surprise to many who felt age was catching up to the veteran.

He advances now to meet Ted Smythe for this year's championship.

Smythe won over Rex Jackson in their semifinal, 4-6, 6-1 and 6-4.

Brand teamed with the former Danish tennis ace, Thorkill Julesberg, in men's doubles competition, but lost out to the flashy Ngai brothers, Art and Ed, 9-7, 17-15.

Tonight's draw follows:

5.30 p.m.—Semi-finals men's singles: A. C. Brand vs. T. Smythe; semi-finals ladies' singles: Miss M. Bonner vs. Mrs. P. Timbrell; W. Cameron vs. J. Butt, Ngai and Ngai vs. Jackson and McArthur; flights: Mrs. Ley vs. Miss Kingham, Miss Davis vs. Miss Grigoletto, Houston vs. Sherman.

6.30 p.m.—Semi-finals men's doubles: Cameron and Peacock vs. Dunbar and Parker; semi-finals ladies' doubles: Miss Bonner and Mrs. Goodland vs. Mrs. Keyes and Mrs. Houston; G. Bishop vs. R. Mitchell, Mrs. G. Dawson vs. Miss R. Sherman, Butt and Smythe vs. Houston and McCormick; flights: Garnet vs. Hicks, A. Ngai vs. McMinn (from one set to McMinn).

7.30 p.m.—Miss Pollard and Jackson vs. Mrs. Hicks and Mitchell, Mrs. Ley and Peacock vs. Mrs. Wilson and Miller.

B.C. CHAMPION

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lanky Bill Kemp, playing his usual steady game, Tuesday won the B.C. Professional Golfers' Association junior match play championship with a slim, 1-up victory over Gordy MacKenzie.

DOUBLE-TIMED

Tyees Slither Into Basement

Victoria Tyees dropped both ends of a double-header at Wenatchee Wednesday night, 9-1 and 11-5, and bounced back into the WIL cellar, a spot they have seen quite enough of this season.

Slowballing southpaw Pete Younie took the mound for Victoria in the first game, a seven-inning contest, and departed quickly after giving up two runs in the first inning. Zeb Walker came on with two out in the second frame, ending a five-run rally by Chiefs, but ran into trouble in the third, and was being relieved by Ben Lorino, who made his first showing for Tyees this season.

BEN SHINES

Lorino was in fine form and gave up only one hit and no runs in three and two-third innings in which he saw duty. He struck out two and walked two.

In the second game left-hander Earl Dollins held Chiefs to a lone tally before giving over to Bill Prior in the seventh inning, after Wenatchee had plated one run to trail 4-2.

Prior worked himself out of trouble that inning but promptly got into hot water in the next frame. Lorino came on again but Chiefs erupted for nine runs and walked away with the verdict. Four runs crossing the plate were unearned as catcher Jim Harford, playing right-field, made three errors, a league record for outfielders.

In action elsewhere Bill Franks came up with a five-hit performance to give Spokane Indians a 5-0 win over Lewiston Broncs and move the club into first place.

Salem and Calgary split a doubleheader, Calgary taking the opener, 6-4, and Salem squeezing out a 4-3 nightcap decision.

Yakima Bears came from behind with a three-run outburst in the ninth inning to take a 3-2 decision from Vancouver Capilanos.

Edmonton Eskimos took the first game of a doubleheader at Tri-City, 2-0, and then lost the second, 6-5. John Conant picked up his 15th mound victory of the season for Eskimos in the first contest and then was credited with his seventh loss in the nightcap.

Gavilan Eyes Middleweight Mitt Title

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan is ready to defend his title "against anyone, anywhere where we can get a good gate" but his manager also said he's aiming for the vacant middleweight title.

Gavilan won a unanimous 10-round decision over Ramon Fuentes, a novice from Los Angeles, here Wednesday night in Milwaukee's first nationally televised fight. Fuentes said after the fight he thought he would get another bout with Gavilan.

"If Madison Square Garden wants to put up Fuentes, we'll be glad to take him," said Angel Lopez, Gavilan's manager. "Or we'll be glad to take anyone else they want to put up."

Gavilan is scheduled to fight middleweight Joe Giardello in Philadelphia, Aug. 10, Lopez said. The Cuban kid's pilot also said Gavilan was tentatively scheduled for a Garden fight with an as yet unnamed opponent.

Fuentes headed back to Los Angeles after the fight last night. He was unhurt except for a slight cut over the left eye and a reinjury to the middle knuckle of his left hand.

Pages Drub Movers; Close In on Second

Central Cartage continued to be the fall team of the Senior Amateur Baseball League at Royal Athletic Park Wednesday as the winless club suffered its 13th straight setback, a 9-3 trimming administered by Page the Cleaner.

For Cleaners it was an important win and moved the third-place club within one game of Eagles, currently holding down second spot.

Cleaners got away to a fast start, plating three runs in the first inning on doubles by Russ Hearn and Harry Holness and two errors. From then on the outcome was never in doubt as the winners notched another two tallies in the fourth and four in the eighth and last frame, the game being called for darkness.

SURPRISE STARTER

Third-baseman Len Nuttall turned pitcher for Cleaners and picked up the win, although relieved in the sixth inning by Frank Graham. Andy George again took the mound for Cartagemen and turned in one of his best games this season.

Hearn was the big man at the plate for the winners with a double and single in four trips. Holness with a double and Vic Skinner with a single tallied the other Cleaners' hits.

Farmer Construction will be out to extend its undefeated streak of 15 straight games when the club is scheduled to take the field against Central Cartage tonight at Royal Athletic Park at 6.30.

'I CAN HIT AS HARD AS ROCKY'

Not Too Late for Roland

NEW YORK (AP) — Most fighters who have been hit by Rocky Marciano don't want to talk about it. Roland La Starza is different. He wants more. In fact, he thinks he has been hit harder by another guy.

"When Rocky knocked me down, I rolled over and got up on one knee," he said Wednesday at the boxing commission where he had signed for a title match with Marciano at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 24.

"When Gene Gosney hit me, things went black. I woke up at the count of three. And he dumped me twice in one round."

"I can punch faster, sharper and cleaner," he said. "Not so hard. But I don't expect to get hit. And I can hit hard, too, maybe as hard as Rocky if I wound up like he does."

It will be 3½ years to the day since their first meeting, March 24, 1950, when Roland gets his rematch. He's sure it's not too late.

"Sure, I think I've improved," he said. "I'm heavier, stronger and I punch better. I guess Rocky has improved, too. Maybe he has a little more poise, but he doesn't punch any harder and he doesn't box any better. I think I beat him last time and I'm sure I'll win.

Downstairs, on the sidewalk, Dan Florio was talking about the match. Dan trains La Starza. You may remember he also handled Jersey Joe Walcott for his two matches with Rocky. In fact, Dan is well on his way to Ray Arcel's old title of "meat man" for he was in the other corner when Marciano flattened Joe Louis and Walcott twice and also a fellow named Joe Dominic.

"This fellow is altogether different from Walcott," said Florio. "He's got it in his mind that he fought the guy once and beat him. He don't want to talk about anything else. He think's he's a cinch.

"Walcott? I don't know what happened yet. He died on me the last day. After the fight he went to his room and I went to mine. I never saw him since.

"He just went gloomy on me. In the dressing room before the fight it took him a half hour to take his street shoes off. He didn't say nothing to nobody. Who the hell knows what happened?

"Maybe it takes a young fellow to beat Marciano, somebody that can move around. He's easy to hit but he's a tough fellow who keeps swinging. He shouldn't touch another short, moving guy like himself."

SOFTBALLERS TO HOLD ANNUAL 'FIELD DAY'

Sunday will be the big day of the year for the Senior A Men's Softball League.

The annual all-star game and field day will be held at Central Park, Gar Taylor's all-stars meeting the league-leading Capital City Gaemen and players from all teams competing in field events, including base-running, fungo-hitting and throwing for distance and accuracy.

Chinese Pursue Gasmen

Nip Ladysmith To Cut Deficit

Chinese Students of the Senior A Softball League continued their relentless pursuit of league-leading Capital City Gasmen at Central Park Wednesday night, taking a 3-1 decision from Ladysmith to move within a single point of the pace-setting club.

Students could possibly move into a first-place tie with Gasmen if league officials see fit to uphold Navy manager Mickey Smith's reported protest of Tuesday night's game between the Sailors and Gasmen.

FAST START

Students got away to a fast start scoring two runs in the bottom of the first frame when Jimmy John singled, Bernie Sam walked and Quinton Mar plated both runners with a long single.

The other Student run came in the eighth. Bud Ross singled, John walked and Bernie Sam came through with a double to plate the lead runner.

Ladysmith picked up its lone counter in the seventh. Smokey Mitchell started the ball rolling with a single, took second as Bernie Sam bobbled the ball, and came home when Ron Delcourt's pop fly fell between second base and centre-fielder George Brown.

Starter Bud Ross picked up the win for Students and twirled a neat four-hitter while striking out six and walking one.

Holiday Ended, Majors Resume Pennant Battle

Major league ball players put away their fishing poles and went back to work today after a three-day midsummer all-star holiday.

As if to make up for lost time the majors scheduled 11 games for today and tonight, with most of the action coming after dark.

Charlie Dressen awoke from his three-day dream during which he controlled the talents of such pitchers as Robin Roberts, Warren Spahn and Curt Simmons and resumed his daily agony of trying to find a winning assortment from among the throwers on his brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers return to action with a 1½-game lead in the too-close-for-comfort National League pennant chase, facing St. Louis tonight in the first of a four-game series at home.

Dressen, whose National League all-stars came out on top at Cincinnati as expected, decided to give Preacher Roe another chance to recover his wizardry over the Cards in the first game. The preacher used to beat the Red Birds by just showing up, but he's been kayoed twice by them this season.

BRAVES MEET BUCS

Milwaukee's second-place Braves open their third eastern invasion with a night game in Pittsburgh and the homer-happy Cincinnati Redlegs visit Philadelpiha for a twilight-night twin bill. The Phillies, like the Cardinals, are four games off the pace, but own third place by two percentage points.

New York Giants, winners of seven straight before the Dodgers stopped them last Sunday, renew their battle for a first-division spot in a night game against Chicago.

What was Dressen's dream was Casey Stengel's nightmare and the New York Yankee skipper's only pleasant thoughts about the all-star encounter are that it's over.

From a personal standpoint he also can-remember that he's lost the dream game the last three years and gone on to win his pennant and the World Series.

Stengel's Yankees, who won every game on their last western swing, open their third tour with a twi-night doubleheader against the lowly St. Louis Browns. Casey's biggest problem at the moment is young Mickey Mantle, his all-star centrefielder now reported suffering with water on the knee.

QUESTION MARK

Mantle reported he was ready to play but the indications were that Stengel would rest him for a vital doubleheader in Chicago Sunday.

The brash White Sox, who have moved from fifth place to a challenging second in a month, opened their home stand with daylight twin bill against Washington. The Sox trail the Yankees by five and have a 13-game home stand coming up.

Cleveland's third-place Indians play host to Philadelphia Athletics in a night game. The Indians fell 8½ games behind by losing four out of five to Chicago just before the all-star intermission.

Fourth-place Boston begins its invasion with a night game in Detroit.

CRACK MILERS MEET SATURDAY

The mile event is shaping into the feature event of the afternoon for the annual Highland Games at Macdonald Park Saturday.

Games officials report they have received an entry from Bob Fornia, wiry young athlete who won the Pacific Coast Conference mile championship for the University of Washington this spring.

Fornia recently toured the cinders at Palo Alto, Calif., in four minutes 12 seconds, fast time for the distance.

Also entered in the event will be Victoria "Y's" champion, Bill Parnell. The two are expected to put on one of the best duels ever seen in Victoria.

HOLD FIVE-GAME LEAD

Vids Clip Merchants

Individuals polished off Sidney Merchants, 11-6, in a Senior Women's Softball League contest at lower Central Park Wednesday night and moved five games out front in the circuit.

Loss dropped Sidney back into a second-place tie with Copley Bros., who have a chance to move into sole possession of the runner-up spot tonight when they are scheduled to meet Pitt & Holt at lower Central Park at 6.30.

Cleaners moved away to a fast start, scoring seven runs on five hits and five errors, in the first inning.

Louise Heal picked up the win for Cleaners, although pitching only the first five frames. She was relieved by Mary Romanuik, who held Sidney hitless during the final two frames. Mis Romanuik, who has been turning in polished performances lately, struck out the side in the seventh inning.

"SHAG" HONORED

MONTREAL (BUP) — President Frank (Shag) Shaughnessy of the International Baseball League was honored by stars from all lines of sport Wednesday night as guest of honor for the Montreal Sportsmen's Association annual golf tournament and dinner at Lachute Golf Club.

Comedian Joe E. Brown, a long-time friend of Shaughnessy, and Air Vice-Marshal Frank S. McGill paid tribute to the sportsman at the dinner.

Mrs. Clark Wins Silver Division

Silver division honors of a monthly medal competition at Gorge Vale Golf Club Wednesday were captured by Mrs. J. R. Clarke with a net 79.

Mary Stewart captured bronze division laurels, with a net 76.

Mrs. Derek Rhys-Jones, competing in a fortnightly medal round for women divoters with handicaps of 15 and under, won the low gross section with an 82. Mrs. B. Thirlwell and Mrs. P. Barnes tied in the net runner-up spot with 78s.

Eagles Snare Bantam Crown

Eagles captured the Greater Victoria Amateur Baseball Association bantam league championship at Macdonald Park Wednesday night, downing Victoria Van and Storage, 6-3, to take the best-of-five series three games to one.

Eagles scored five runs in the fourth inning to come from behind a 1-0 deficit and take a commanding lead.

George Wells picked up the win for Eagles.

PIGEON RACING

STUKE SEEKS CADETS FOR GRID LEAGUE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Entry of the Royal Roads Naval Academy into the proposed B.C. intermediate Canadian football league next season was forecast here Wednesday.

Annis Stukus, coach of the B.C. Lions professional team, indicated that the Victoria naval college would compete with two Vancouver teams in the league. The junior set-up is to serve as a training ground for the Lions' 1954 squad.

Nucleus of the two Vancouver teams will be composed of players already signed by the Lions, and ones seeking tryouts with the WI-FU team.

Kiwanis Capture L'il Loop Lead

North Kiwanis climbed into first place in the Little League baseball circuit at Little League Park Wednesday night by downing Odd Fellows, 3-2, in what was one of the best games of the season.

Kiwanis are now sitting atop the heap, one-half game up on Gyros, in their struggle to become the first Little League champions in Victoria. The two clubs will meet Sunday at 3 in one of the most crucial contests for both teams this year.

Steve Bishop of Odd Fellows and Wayne Schwandt hooked up in a tense mound duel with Schwandt earning the victory.

Schwandt gave up an unearned run in the initial frame but then closed the door until Barry Williams doubled home a run in the top of the fifth.

Bishop was also very sharp but gave up five hits, three going for extra bases. Roddie Woolls tripled to drive home two runs in the first inning. Woolls connected for a double in the fifth, went to third on an error, but was injured sliding to the sack.

Jack Gaston took over and scored the winning run when catcher Williams dropped a throw from Bishop on a force play at home.

Russ Ashworth notched two singles for the winners while George Wilson and Bobby Edwards each had two singles for the losers.

Speakers See False 'Bogies' Says Wicks

Provincial Labor Minister Lyle Wicks protested Wednesday night that much misinformation was being circulated about the aims and objects of Social Credit.

In a speech at Strawberry Vale Hall in support of James Roberts, Socred candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding, Mr. Wicks said it was his desire to inform people "that the bogies being presented by other parties about Social Credit are false."

Mr. Roberts described Canada as a nation of endless resources.

"A nation of 14,000,000 people with these resources should be living better than it is," he said. He said Social Credit put to work would do away with the necessity for people to borrow money to purchase the goods they produced.

Trades Council Protests Use of Non-Union Workers

Objection was raised by Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night to the number of non-union men from out of town being employed by subcontractors on several large building projects here.

Council was particularly critical of the situation since many local union men are out of work. A letter will be forwarded from the council to the Victoria Builders' Exchange in protest.

Council was also disturbed by a report that Shell Oil Company was employing non-union help to paint service stations here, and was paying the men 40 cents an hour below union rates. A protest letter will be dispatched.

B.C. Setting Pace In Home Building

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Canada's house-building boom has increased sharply in the 12-month period ending June 1 and British Columbia is in the forefront with 5,683 houses under construction, according to a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report issued Wednesday.

Victoria showed a total of 512 houses under construction in the 12 months.

Canada as a whole had 58,143 homes being built in the year ending June 1.

British Columbia urban centres showed the following number of homes under construction at May 31, with the 1952 figures in brackets: Chilliwack 63 (25); Kamloops 16 (19); Kelowna 9 (8); Kimberley 10 (6); Nanaimo 80 (82); Nelson 28 (10); Penticton 37 (24); Port Alberni 51 (0); Prince Rupert 84 (91); Trail 67 (25); Vancouver 3,478 (2,754); Vernon 23 (10) and Victoria 512 (456).

7. SINGING is best. You won't approve of them SINGING, but you might well approve of them RINGING, for instance, to give you an important message.
8. SLAP is best. It is not the SOAP as such, but rather the APPLICATION of it which is sometimes liable to make a small child cry.
11. GIFT is best because it is perfectly true of GIFT. GILT VIEWED AS GILT will naturally look no more expensive than GILT.
12. SEAT is best. It will normally have very little appeal for a youngster EXCEPT at some place of entertainment, such as a circus. A SEAL would appeal WHEREVER seen.
15. DIE is best. The clue implies: "they don't WANT to, but nevertheless they HAVE to." This is true of DIE, but not of LIE.
16. SWELTER is best. "Tropic sun" links very strongly with SWELTER. They may equally have to SHELTER from rain, etc.
19. DROP is best. It is more apt to say that COFFEE will DRIP, and a coffee POT will DROP.
20. PAY is best since the words "too much" favors PAY. For PRY they are quite superfluous, also they MAY not necessarily PRY where their husbands are concerned

CLUES DOWN

2. SWAGGER is best. They may well stare if you SWAGGER. If you STAGGER, as if ill, you will invite some more positive action than a mere stare.
6. ENRAGED is best. Things can certainly look different to a man when 'he's ENRAGED, and this answer is preferred to ENGAGED, and "in love" would be much better.
14. REVELS is best because REVELS will be frowned upon. REBELS, a direct threat to peace, will be hated.
17. TIMED is best because runners are TIMED occasionally. We ALL get TIRED occasionally.
21. CAMP is best. The phrase "a SUPPLY of electricity" suggests power in quantity, as may be needed by a CAMP. It seems a little feeble to say a LAMP "may need a supply of electricity"; it might be an oil lamp anyway.
26. WAD is best. Loss of a wad—rolls of bills—yes, but WAR means a financial setback whether won OR lost.

Pearkes Sees Farmer Victim of Squeeze

The farmer is a victim of an economic squeeze between declining farm returns and rising farms costs, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive-Conservative candidate seeking re-election in the Esquimalt-Saanich constituency, told an election meeting in the Masonic Hall, Saanichton, Wednesday.

Gen. Pearkes said if his party is elected in August it would endeavor to rectify conditions by appointing a national agricultural board to establish fair floor prices related to farm production costs.

Inauguration of a permanent air freight program for Saanich peninsula was also listed by the general as one of his objectives for his constituency. This would enable fresh cut flowers and berries to be shipped rapidly to Prairie points, he said.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers included Dr. Gordon Grant who spoke on the Conservatives' plans for a national health insurance policy. The plan would provide the maximum of services to all people of Canada, he said.

V. E. Virgin, Saanichton poultryman, told the meeting how Gen. Pearkes had fought in Ottawa to improve the conditions of poultrymen of the riding he represented. He blamed the loss of the British poultry market on the Liberal government.

Maj. C. A. Dodds was chairman.

RCAF Will Adopt New Style Parachute

TRENTON, Ont. (BUP) — The air force announced today that a new and safer parachute passed tests with flying colors and soon would be used in para-rescue operations.

The parachute incorporates a feature already adopted by Britain and the United States to eliminate fatal tangling of the lines with the canopy.

A jumper can also descend faster and get out of the harness sooner.

BRAVES WIN

QUEBEC CITY (BUP) — Six Milwaukee Braves hurlers teamed up to pitch a no-hitter last night as the National League squad downed their class "C" Quebec City Provincial League farmhands, 8-0.

Killer Fish Makes New Appearance Off N.S.

PETIT DE GRAT, N.S. (CP)—The Forchu Rammer—shark, swordfish or whatever he is—has appeared again off the Cape Breton coast. Jittery fishermen peered through the fog today, ready to run for it if he shows his nose.

The mystery fish appeared Wednesday in a fleet of boats tending herring nets off this port on Isle Madame, 50 miles southwest of Forchu, where a fisherman was drowned when the Rammer ripped open a lobster boat last week.

The herring netters scattered and no boats were damaged.

Several times during the day the mystery fish appeared off Petit de Grat but no more attacks were [illegible]d. The men asked the federal fisheries patrol at nearby Arichat to help track down the monster.

The fishermen now think the Rammer is a shark. They saw him with his head well above water.

ELECTION ROUND-UP

Glass of Water Pleases Heckler

LACOMBE, Alta. (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott debated vigorously with hecklers and appeased one by pouring him a glass of water at a lively public meeting Wednesday night in this town, 80 miles south of Edmonton.

On the platform with the finance minister were Jean Paul St. Laurent, son of the prime minister, Alberta Liberal Leader J. Harper Prowse and Clinton Reed, Liberal candidate for Wetaskiwin constituency.

The audience of some 80 persons first began to stir as Mr. Reed began to outline the government's record.

"What record?" one of the hecklers interjected.

The next speaker, Mr. St. Laurent, said it was the first time he had been on a platform with a cabinet minister outside Eastern Canada. A member of the audience invited him to go back to the East.

After another spirited exchange during which a heckler and someone in the back row threatened each other with fist-icuffs, Mr. Abbott waved his spectacles in admonition and asked the heckler why he didn't listen to those on the platform.

"That's a good idea, thank you, sir," the brawny youth replied. Later, after peppering the speakers with pointed questions, the same man, apparently a Social Credit supporter, asked Mr. Abbott if he could have a drink of water.

"Certainly," Mr. Abbott said, filling a glass. "I think you've earned one."

Destroying Union

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. (BUP)—Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew told voters in this "cradle of confederation" last night that centralization of power by the Liberal government was destroying the system born here at the historic meeting in 1864.

He warned that the government now "can do anything" by order-in-council and could take over the functions of provincial and municipal governments despite the constitution.

"We have been seeing a steady centralization of power in Canada which will destroy our federal system if the whole trend is not stopped and reversed very soon," he said.

Wants Steel Plants

HALIFAX (CP)—CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell said Wednesday night Canada's steel companies are deliberately holding up progress of the steel industry in this country by refusing to expand. He was in favor of having the steel companies publicly controlled.

Earlier in the day Mr. Coldwell spoke in Truro where he said his party would have nothing to do with a coalition with any other political party in Canada.

Mr. Coldwell lashed out at Health Minister Martin for his recent statement that a national health insurance plan couldn't be set up overnight. "It's been a long night . . . 38 years," said Mr. Coldwell.

He pointed to the health program with free hospitalization that now exists in Saskatchewan under a CCF government and which he said could be used for a model anywhere in the world.

On the subject of the steel industry he said the present owners of the seeel firms in Canada bought them at a comparatively low price and that several of them admitted having contributed to Liberal and Progressive Conservative campaign funds.

CHIEF SAYS

3-Toed Thing Looks for 3-Toed Mate

NEW HAMBURG, Ont. (BUP)—Police Chief George Thomas said today he still hadn't found his three-toed monster, but had figured out why it prowled the town's streets at night.

It's not hungry. It's looking for a lady monster.

"It's still prowling around at night," Thomas said. "I think it's answering the urge to mate."

He didn't think it stood much chance of finding another like it around here, but the chief shuddered at the thought of baby monsters.

He was the only one of 20 persons who had a gun when he saw the three-foot-high "lizard-type thing" two weeks ago. His one shot missed and it plopped into the Nith River.

His night vigils since then and daylight searches by others yielded nothing but a 29-inch eel. But tracks have been found in the street, "like balloon bicycle tire treads" with the three-toed imprint of two legs.

Cabinet Sworn In

ROME (UP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi and the 16 members of his new cabinet were sworn in formally today by President Luigi Einaudi at the presidential residence in the Quirinal Palace.

The council of ministers will meet for the first time Friday to elect some 26 undersecretaries of state.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "TENDER FOR PHASE I—DEMOLITION, HOARDING AND GENERAL EXCAVATION WORK FEDERAL PUBLIC BUILDING, NANAIMO, B.C.", will be received in the office of the Secretary until 3.00 p.m. (E.D.S.T.) WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1953.

Plans and specification can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the offices of the Chief Architect, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, Ontario, the District Architect, Begg Building, 1110 West Georgia Street, Vancouver, B.C., at the Post Office Building, Victoria, B.C., and at the Public Building, Nanaimo, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on these forms and in accordance with the conditions set forth therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, or Bearer Bonds as specified in the form of tender, for 10 per cent of the amount of the tender.

The Department, through the office of the District Architect, Begg Building, 1110 West Georgia Street, Vancouver, B.C., will supply blue-prints and specification of the work on deposit of a sum of $25.00 in the form of a certified bank cheque payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works. The deposit will be released on return of the blue-prints and specification within a month from the date of reception of tenders. If not returned within that period the deposit will be forfeited.

RAF Displays Jet-Age Might for Elizabeth

The RAF unveiled its jet-age might for the Queen Wednesday in the biggest aerial review ever staged in Britain.

For more than an hour, Queen Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh and a crowd of 30,000, eyes shaded and necks craned, watched the 640-plane aerial parade over this fighter station known to Canadians in peace and war. It was the Queen's day with the RAF, the last big service review of the Coronaation year.

She saw helicopters, trainers, Spitfires of Battle of Britain fame and Sunderland flying boats. But the Queen and others were most interested in odd-shaped jets, many just off the production line screamed by at 600 and 700 miles an hour.

Thirty-six Sabres from Canada's No. 1 fighter wing at North Luffenham were in the airborne part of the show.

On the ground, earlier, the Queen and the Duke inspected more than 1,000 airmen and 300 lined-up planes, including a Canadian contingent.

The planes flew over in two layers. The trainers, including types in which the Duke of Edinburgh won his pilot's wings, were followed by light and heavy bombers at 2,000 feet.

Then came the jets, filling the entire airfield with their whine as they swept in over the tree tops at speeds of from 300 to 665 miles an hour.

Four Venom jets climbed into the blue to write "VIVAT"—long live—with their vapor trails.

Spectators got a look at Britain's aircraft of tomorrow, including the crescent-winged Handley Page Victor, removed only last week from the secret list.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Communist editors in East Berlin have taken to discussing fairy tales.

According to the United Press, the newspaper Chemnitzer Volkstimme said:

"The purpose of fairy tales is to demonstrate that when people take their fate in their own hands many fairy-like things become reality. Then mountains are moved, water flows uphill, plants bear hundreds of different fruits, and the earth becomes rich and fruitful and a fine home for all, just as we see it in the Soviet Union."

Now, there is a fairy tale!

I like people who try to do things in a slightly different manner, which is why I enjoyed this birth announcement card received by a constituent from his cousin in California. (Names are altered by request).

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE NEW '53 MODEL
Late in Season, But New in Style.
The John Doe Production Company is proud to announce the successful arrival of their first model. . . .

JOHN DOE JR. was taken from the assembly line at 1.20 p.m. June 2, 1953, and placed in the showroom at Parks Air Force Base Maternity Hospital, California.

Designer ..... Jane Doe
Unskilled Labor ..... John Doe
Technical Advisor and Delivery Boy ... Dr. Smith

This model is operated by a natural flow of fuel, and the smooth body lines extend over a length of 20½ inches. It weighs 8 lbs., 12 oz. Blue headlights, dark brown top finish, free squealing, bawl bearing, exhaust is open and loud, and seat covers were installed immediately.

This screamlined body is now on display at the Doe residence.

From the Ask The Times column, which appears daily on this page (and a splendid feature it is, too):

"Q.—Does the Post office department pay rent for the poles in the streets to which mail boxes are attached?—S. H.

"A.—No. Use of the poles is by courtesy of the owning concerns. The interest of the civic authorities is chiefly in assuring there is no interference with traffic."

The dog Punch would like me to state he appreciates the courtesy, and will be careful not to interfere with traffic.

OLD JOKES AT HOME: "Come at once, doctor," said the mother's frantic voice on the phone. "My little boy has swallowed my fountain pen."

"I'll rush right over," the doctor cried, "What are you doing in the meantime?"

"Using a pencil," the mother replied.

Mayor Asks Province Ease Nursing Load

Gorge Road Home Worthy Cause Improperly Approached, He Says

The current civic squabble over a proposed $450,000 addition to Victoria Nursing Home, Gorge Road, was labelled "a case of a worthy cause not being approached in the proper manner" by Mayor Claude Harrison at City Council meeting today.

Prior to the meeting the mayor said it would be preferable for the provincial government to expand its present facilities for care of the chronically ill than for the city to be "in the nursing home business."

"If the whole problem were handled on a provincial basis it would be for the good of all the people of the province," said the mayor. "Every community has this problem."

It has been rumored in some civic circles that the provincial government has this line of thought under consideration.

In a memorandum to the meeting today, the mayor said he felt council must decide whether it wishes to construct and operate a nursing home and if not "is the incorporation of the Victoria Nursing Home such that we are protected?"

The mayor added, that in view of a recent court judgment involving the commission-operated Memorial Arena, the city should have special legislation and statutory power if it wishes "to avoid being held liable for the acts of the Nursing Home who will be held to be our agents."

Answers City Solicitor's Critics

At the same time the mayor replied to criticism levelled at City Solicitor Arthur Patton at a welfare committee meeting earlier this week.

Ald. Margaret Christie, chairman and prime mover of the proposed 104-bed addition to the home, together with Ald. Waldo Skillings felt "11th-hour legal technicalities" were thrown into the project which has been under discussion at City Hall for three years.

Said the mayor:

"It is definitely illegal to try to force over any scheme which we have not the legal authority to do, no matter how one may feel they would like to do it or how popular it might be. We must act lawfully and properly at all times.

"I trust there will be no further recriminations or bitter words spoken over a simple matter of this kind."

Mayor Harrison said he was advised by Mr. Patton that the whole question of the Victoria Nursing Home originated before his appointment as city solicitor.

"I am advised by him that when the matter came to his attention he advised against it.

"In 1951, after my election as mayor, I was told by Mrs. Christie that everything was in order and that only the money was needed. I then took up the matter and tried to get the money, but after a short while I found out that things were far from being in order.

"I found that Mr. Patton had written a strong letter of advice, advising against the project as being beyond the powers of the council."

The mayor then notified council the legality of the matter had to be "straightened out before the city proceeded."

BEACH ACCESS PROJECT OF LABOR BODY

Victoria Labor Council (CCL) on Wednesday night named a committee to take action in making beaches of Vitcoria and district more accessible to the public.

The committee was instructed to work with other interested parties toward achieving this objective.

Members are R. Fletcher, R. Little, F. Copp, A Plume, A. Asselstine and S. A. Muir.

Stowaway Home Without Charge —Cash Or Court

An unscheduled passenger arrived in Victoria from England Wednesday, aboard the Donaldson Line's Ss. Corrientes.

Howard Frank Perry, a Canadian who served with the army during the Second World War, stowed away on the freighter when she was in port in Liverpool.

And due to the complexities of the law, he cannot be charged with being a stowaway here.

Nor can he be returned to England for prosecution. He's home free.

Perry, about 45, was discovered aboard Corrientes two days out of Liverpool. When the ship docked here Capt. Kenneth McLeod, shipmaster, turned the stowaway over to city police.

Had he remained aboard the ship for the return voyage to England, he could have been charged as a stowaway at the point of embarkation.

But once Perry, a Canadian citizen, set foot on Canadian soil, no charges could be laid.

Perry was questioned by RCMP, city police, and immigration authorities, then allowed to go his way.

'I'LL NEVER DO IT AGAIN'

Four Plod for Week, Bamfield to Jordan

BY DON INGHAM

Walking down Vancouver Island's west coast from Bamfield to Jordan River is a great experience—the first time.

"I'll never do it again," said George Cobb, Bamfield, leader of a party of four that made the journey between July 5 and 11.

"The trail is rough," he said, "and pretty well removed from ocean scenery. And we were too busy finding where to put our feet each step to be looking for views."

Interviewed here at the home of friends were Mr. Cobb, employee at the Bamfield cable station, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Wallis, Victoria, who taught school at Bamfield until June but will spend next year in Vancouver.

A fourth member, David Schutz, 15, returned to his home in Bamfield Wednesday, and a fifth, Mrs. Diana Griffin, turned back at Clo-oose because of an infection picked up from plants on the trail.

Setting off with packs weighing from 38 to 45 pounds, and wearing running shoes, the party covered from seven to 13 miles daily, with plenty of time off to visit with the government linemen, lighthouse tenders and fishermen they met along the way.

"The people are hospitality itself," Mrs. Wallis said. "They can't do enough for you."

"At Klanawa River we built a raft and swam our packs across," Mr. Cobb said. "At Nitinat an Indian fisherman took all five of us (Mrs. Griffin was still with the party) over the river in a huge canoe. At Loss Creek just north of Jordan River we crossed in a bucket carried on a cable."

North of Port Renfrew they walked waist-deep along the water's edge for some way, after having spent considerable time clambering up and down ladders built by the linesmen.

A west coast road would be difficult to build, Mr. Cobb said. There is very little level ground, and hundreds of gullies that would require expensive bridges to meet government highway standards.

Dragoon Finds Ocean Wind But Too Late to Win

Capt. W. B. Holms' Victoria ketch Dragoon has at last caught favorable winds—but too late to enable her to rank with the leaders in the Honolulu ocean yacht race.

Mrs. Holms was advised here this morning that Dragoon had logged 220 miles in the 24 hours ending Wednesday, but the ketch was still 660 miles from Diamond Head.

Dragoon is far north of the rest of the flotilla, and is not likely to make port before Saturday.

First across the line, the 161-foot schooner Goodwill finished at 2.17 p.m. Wednesday. However, two smaller craft are fighting it out for the Governor's Cup on the basis of their handicaps.

The yawl Chibasco and the ketch Chiriqui were handicap leaders at press times today, although the ketch Staghound was still a strong possibility to finish high on the handicap list.

Kiddies Cast Lures In Breakwater Derby

Over 100 youngsters from city playgrounds swarmed on to Victoria's Breakwater wall at Ogden Point this morning armed with an array of garish fish lures. They were after fish, any kind of fish, just so long as they could swim and take worm-baited hook—or more often a bent pin.

At 10 sharp playground director Gordon Hartley gave the word and a minute later every section of the wall was covered with small fry. As each fish was caught the contestants rushed to Mr. Hartley to have their catch weighed. The heaviest three fish took the prizes.

Winners were:

1. Brian Craig, 13, of 144 Westall, three-pound kelp cod. 2. Don Shewchuk, 13, 737 Kings Road, two and one-half pound perch. 3. Bob Carignan, 12, 830 Princess, two-pound kelp cod.

Besides a bamboo pole a lot of the children had their mother or father in hand as well.

"Not on your life. I wouldn't let Jimmie out of my sight for a minute. He's fallen in too many times before," one parent related.

Another father seemed more intent on catching a fish than junior, who sat patiently while dad reeled in the line watching for any sign of a nibble and giving instructions.

CAREFUL WATCH

Just to make sure no one got into any trouble, Mr. Hartley came prepared. He patrolled the sea wall in his bathing trunks while his assistant, Gerry Horne, also stood guard.

Another guard was posted to watch just in case any young enterpriser slipped over to the fish packers to borrow a spare salmon or two.

It may not have been the biggest fish derby in Victoria history but few, if any, have ever met with more enthusiasm.

A boy, a fishing rod and his dog! What more could any youngster ask for—except maybe a fish.

BOX SEAT FOR LITTLE LINDA WHEN SHRINERS STAGE SHOW

There'll be a box seat for six-year-old Linda Lewis when Victoria Shriners stage their second annual horse show at Macdonald Park on Saturday, Aug. 1.

Linda, her parents and her baby brother are to be guests of honor at the Shrine show. Shriners met Linda when they staged their big convention here in June. They heard how she'd broken both legs and wouldn't be able to come to town to see their big parade so they took a band to her home, 2028 Stanley Avenue.

Linda's legs are nearly mended now. She was to have the casts removed today. She's looking forward to seeing the horse show very much but is particularly happy because it means she will be seeing her friends with the funny hats again.

SOCRED PLANS FOR SESSION ON TV SCREEN

Social Credit has gone on television.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett appeared twice on film over KVOS-TV, Bellingham, this week at the station's request.

Monday night he delivered British Columbians' greetings to the people of Washington on the occasion of their centennial.

Tuesday night he gave a preview for B.C. consumption, of legislation to be introduced at the special fall session.

Polio Strikes Canada Earlier Than in 1952

Polio hit Canada earlier this year than in previous years, health officials said today.

This does not mean, however, that the disease will reach epidemic proortions across the country, they said.

In British Columbia the 1953 death toll from polio still stands at four. Last year the fourth polio death in B.C. was not reported until Aug. 6.

There are 99 cases at present in B.C., and up to last week-end there was a total of 487 in Canada.

A committee of federal, provincial, public health and university research authorities has sent 500 doses of gamma globulin, the new anti-polio serum, to Manitoba to fight the disease there, where 93 cases have been reported this year.

HOPEFUL FOR SERUM

Federal officials look to gamma globulin to be the forerunner of a more effective vaccine against the polio virus. It is effective for not more than a month, and its main hope is that the attack of polio in an area will be modified if the spread of the disease is developing during the period that the injections are effective.

In Victoria Deputy Health Minister Dr. G. F. Amyot said he probably will not apply for supplies of the serum unless an outbreak of polio in B.C. reaches epidemic proportions.

"There must be a sharp increase in cases in an area before gamma globulin is made available," he said.

Five new cases reported in the past week were scattered throughout the province, he said.

Science is still mystified by many features of polio epidemics, according to Ottawa officials.

"We know that the disease spreads by direct contact from person to person," an authority said. "For every case that is paralytic, we know there are many cases that do not result in paralysis, but that contribute to the spread of the disease because the non-paralytic cases are equally infectious."

Old Soldier Was Veteran Of Three Wars

An old soldier whose memories included service at Khartoum and Omdurman when the British fought in the Egyptian Sudan died in Veterans' Hospital here on Tuesday.

He was Capt. William Cooley Ellis, of 615 Vancouver Street. Aged 90, he was a veteran of three wars. He died suddenly, having been admitted to hospital only 24 hours before his death.

Born in Sussex, near Hastings, he began his army career at an early age when he enlisted in the Grenadier Guards.

He served with the Imperials in both Sudan and South African wars. When his service with the British ended, he came to Canada and for a short time took up farming. He subsequently joined the 5th Canadian Infantry.

He served in the First World War with the First Canadian Division and was the oldest member of the Red Chevron Association here.

He leaves his wife, Emily; two daughters, Mrs. Wilma Smith, Victoria, and Mrs. Edith Stewart, Ottawa, and one son, Stanley, in Seattle.

Funeral service will be held Saturday at 3 at McCall Bros.' Funeral Chapel. Cremation will follow.

Whisker Quits Liberal Party

Andrew M. Whisker, fomer MLA from 1949 to 1952, and Liberal candidate in the Cowichan-Newcastle riding in the June provincial election, has resigned from the Liberal party.

"I feel I am no longer willing to associate myself with Liberal policies," Mr. Whisker told the Times.

What his political plans for the future hold, Mr. Whisker was not prepared to discuss.

"I am not a member of any party at present," he said.

On reports he might seek a Social Credit candidacy in the federal election, Mr. Whisker said: "I'm not seeking any nomination. I left my resignation from the Liberal party to this late date so that it could not be misconstrued."

Socred Trio Charges Bonner Breaks Rules

Three Oak Bay Socreds today accused Attorney-General Robert Bonner of using a government car for "personal business or pleasure after office hours."

They also said the attorney-general's car does not bear a government "for official use only" crest as required by regulations.

In a letter to Premier W. A. C. Bennett and members of the cabinet, George Alexander, resigning Oak Bay SC Association president, and Lou Holker and W. A. Scott, now being purged by the association, contended Mr. Bonner is acting "strictly against our Socred government's new orders dated September 24, 1952."

The three Socreds said they checked and "have positive proof the attorney-general uses the car for transportation to and from his work, and for personal business or pleasure."

They said they have verified that ministers are subject to the same regulations and punishments regarding use of government cars as that meted out to the ordinary civil servants.

"Therefore, we await with interest, tinged with Gilbert and Sullivan humor, to see if the prime minister will instruct his dethroned finance minister to dismiss his enthroned attorney-general for an act where the punishment exactly fits the crime."

Asked if he thought the government would take any action on the complaint, Mr. Scott replied:

"Heavens no. They will just welcome it is another Heaven-sent opportunity to prove the three lord high executioners (Bonnet, Bonner and Gunderson) can do no wrong."

HEATED OVER FUEL FRAUD

Prosecutor Probes Report Of Wood Dealer Swindles

A complaint to the mayor and council urging action against "fraudulent" wood dealers will be investigated by Alan E. Bigelow, city prosecutor.

The complaint was made by James Smith, 1022 Collinson Street, who claimed he ordered and paid $11 for a two-cord load of wood advertised as "all No. 1 fir."

"There were three or four barrows of fir in the whole thing," Mr. Smith complained in a letter.

"I have advised that Mr. Smith come to see me regarding the complaint," said Mr. Bigelow.

He suggested the delivery might have contravened the city's by-law covering such sales. The driver delivering the wood should have a memorandum on the quantity and quality of the wood, to be given to the purchaser before actual delivery is made, he said.

"I cannot express any opinion on this particular case, though, until I have all the facts," he said.

FRAUD CHARGED

A nearly blind veteran got "mostly hemlock," Mr. Smith charged. He suggested that the city cancel wood fuel dealers' licenses for 30 days after three "genuine complaints." He also asked that 48 hours be allowed after dumping before payment is made, so that householders can look over the wood on return from work.

Similar complaints have been received over the years but the city's legal department states the present by-law covers the situation.

Some months ago the department reported that the police would lay a charge and prosecute such cases but those who made the complaints refused to testify in court.

Cashier Quits Job to Guide Her Kiddies' 300 Playmates

By BOB HUTCHISON

When the last bell of the last day of the school term rings, teachers sigh in ecstacy . . . most mothers square their shoulders and brace themselves for summer's trials.

Not so Mrs. Lucas . . . "don't use my first name, or any address please. Too many mothers would be phoning to know why junior wasn't home from the playground."

She has deliberately taken on 300 charges in addition to her own holidaying pair.

During the summer, Mrs. Lucas leaves her job as cashier and takes to the children's playgrounds.

"It gives me a chance to look after my own two youngsters," she explains.

The job started when she became a leader of a Cub Scout pack. And then, five years ago, she took over the playground at Rudd Park in Saanich. For the past three years she has been handling Willows Park in Oak Bay.

Today with 300 registered children it's one of the biggest supervised parks in the city.

"Naturally I can't handle the whole thing alone so I have three assistants," she reports. They are Misses Elaine Patterson, Betty Adams and Mrs. W. Daley.

A stroll through the park gives a good idea of just how hard it is to keep an average attendance of 225 youngsters —from four years old to 12—happy.

"These little ones are doing what we call glass painting," the pert, young, red-haired mother points out, "These girls are making cardboard dolls' houses and these paper-mashier rollie (Billy, get down out of that tree!) polies.

"Those older boys can always be kept busy with a softball and bat, and those stilts are a help; and this merry-go — (Excuse me. Mary, don't hang up-side-down like that, dear)—I'm sorry but this merry-go-round is a hard thing to handle. The big thing is keeping everyone busy."

And so it goes.

Little Tommie looses a shoe, Jimmie spills a can of paint all over himself and little Suzie falls and scratches a knee. It's all part of a day's work for Mrs. Lucas. She admits that turpentine is used in greater quantities than paint.

"But please come back in a few weeks," she invites. "We've only been going for a week now and things aren't in full swing yet. Soon we'll have puppets, more doll houses and paintings to display."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me the name of the Spanish Armada ship sunk in the Bay of Tobermory during the Armada in which the Duke of Argyll is interested? M. Z. G.

A.—It is believed the galleon which was blown up and sank in Tobermory Bay in May, 1588, was the San Juan Bautista, from Sicily. Andrew Lang and R. P. Hardie, two of those recognized as writing with authority on the Armada agree in this. Various efforts have been made to recover objects from the bottom of the bay. Some of the galleons carried much gold. However, no gold has been found in the Bay of Tobermory. The latest search was made in 1950, when British Navy divers working under the auspices of the Duke of Argyll, discovered that what remains of the wreckage lies under quite a depth of sand.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matter of fact and be of general interest.

Colorful Drapes Are Cheap, Sun-Fast, Fire-Resistant

By Penny Saver

Mother, just look at those drapes! Don't you think it's about time we took them down and bought some new ones? Yes, I know there are more important things to buy, but drapes don't cost very much! Really, they don't. . . . I saw some yesterday for $2.79 a pair and they looked swish! They're made of rayon, mom, and are non-woven. The way they've been pressed gives them a rich, lustrous, satiny finish. They've got terrific draping qualities, for they are soft, and hang in graceful folds. There are so many lovely patterns to choose from, that there must be some there to match our living room color scheme. Colors are light, bright or sombre . . . what's your choice? Let's get some today . . . they're sunfast and fire-resistant . . . what more could one ask for? They're ready to hang, of course.

* * *

What! Wearing a skirt and sweater on a day like this? Pessimist, eh? If you don't start wearing your cottons soon the summer will be over and you'll have to put them away for next summer. Gosh, with all the cute new styles and low prices . . . of course the prices are low! You've just got to shop around a little to find them. Some I saw today were only $2.99! You can't get much lower than that . . . not even if you sew your own. They are made of striped cotton seersucker . . . in eye-catching colors. There is one in red and white, another in blue and white. You can get one in rust, brown and white stripes, or one in yellow, rust and white. Wine, grey and white are a nice combination, too. You can buy these dresses in two styles. One buttons down the front and is sleeveless, the other has white shoulder ties and does not have the buttons. Both have patch pockets.

Another smart summer dress is reasonably priced at $3.98. Wear this one to work on warm days . . . it's ideal! Made of pique, it has trimming at the neckline and on the armholes of stiff white lace. This crisp-looking frock features summer colors. Light yellow and turquoise are particularly stunning!

What could be more typically a souvenir of British Columbia than an apple crate . . . in miniature, of course! If you ask me, I'd say that our B.C. apples are bigger and sweeter than any others . . . anywhere! The miniature crates are really filled with apples . . . candied pieces of apple, that is, and they are delicious! Price of this crate, with "Souvenir of B.C." written on the outside, is $1.25.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Superfluous Hair Removed Frequently or Permanently

Superfluous hair can be a beauty defect which gives women real suffering because of embarrassment. It is true that we have cream depilatories and cosmetic wax and tweezers and the razor, but many women fail to use these as often as they should and therefore detract greatly from their physical attractiveness.

If you are not going to take the trouble to do this temporary defuzzing, you should then have the unwanted hairs removed permanently through electrolysis.

Many readers write to ask me if electrolysis is painful, if it is expensive, and if it really is permanent. Realizing that this is the time of year when play clothes and swim suits make women more conscious of superfluous hair, I talked with one of New York's well established electrolysists.

She gives you a flat fee before she begins working on you and you can pay it on a budget plan as you go along. There is only a slight sensation of tingling or prickling from the needle in the areas of the skin where the work is being done. This particular electrolysis gives her patients a lifetime guarantee.

She prefers a short-wave radio single needle system because she feels that it has better control and better speed. A great number of hairs can be removed in one treatment. The exact number depends on the nature and growth of the hair and on the type skin. The faint redness which results is only temporary.

The expert of whom I am writing also does interesting things in changing the hairline with electrolysis. She tells us that she has had many cases in which raising the hairline has changed the entire appearance and expression of the woman.

When she works on the hairline, she works on both sides of the centre forehead simultaneously so that the change will be natural and gradual and will not shock one's friends or make one look lopsided while the change is being wrought.

YWCA Officers in City

Miss Sada Shoda, Tokyo, national secretary of the YWCA in Japan, left, and Mrs. Emma Payne Howard, executive director of the East Side YWCA in Seattle, are visitors at Victoria's YWCA.

At the invitation of national council, Canadian YWCA, Miss Shoda is spending four months in Canada visiting YWCA organizations in the larger cities. Following that the petite dark-haired visitor will go to the United States for a further six months of observation before returning to Tokyo.

Miss Shoda has been in "Y" work for more than 20 years. She graduated from the Japan Women's University with a degree in social work, and was on the staff of that university for four years as assistant professor of social work and a student leader before joining the "Y" staff in Tokyo.

Mrs. Howard has been connected with YWCA since she was a little girl in Washington, D.C., where her aunt, Miss E. F. G. Merritt, was one of the founders of the first YWCA in that city. She was a member of the Student Christian Movement for some time and taught psychology in Alabama State College before coming west to become a director of Seattle YWCA. Last September when the new East Side "Y" opened she was made director of that branch. She is vacationing in Victoria at present.

Opens Fete — Annual sale of work and garden party of St. Mary's Guild, Fulford, was opened by Ven. G. H. Holmes and guests were received by president Mrs. Douglas Dane. Girl Advised to Snap Out of Gloom

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a woman feels sorry for herself and makes herself and everyone she comes in contact with unhappy or disgusted, what can she do to turn over a new leaf? That is the problem facing the girl who writes:

Hurlock

(Q) "I am in my late 20s. I have been wondering if anything can be done to overcome being pessimistic, taking life too seriously, and being over-sensitive. I become very disgusted with myself, knowing I have a lot to be thankful for. I have a lot of girl friends, yet I get a lonesome feeling inside me and get quite blue. I desire attention all the time and I am hurt when people don't give it to me. I often feel there isn't much in life to look forward to. I have been in a nervous state for four years and this makes me worse. I have been going to a doctor and feel better. He tells me things aren't so dark as I think they are. Can I snap out of this myself?"

(A) You can snap out of your state of depression if you sincerely want to and if you follow the doctor's orders until you get yourself in a good physical condition. It would certainly help greatly if you would consult a psychiatrist and talk over your problems with him.

One good way to speed up your recovery will be to keep busy and interested. The mind has a marked influence over the body. Being depressed and out of sorts plays havoc with the body's functions.

If you are not working, take a job where you will have interesting contacts and work. If your free time, over the weekends and after work hours, volunteer your services to a hospital or a home for children or the aged. Seeing people worse off than yourself may help you to see how lucky you really are.

Dr. Hurlock is the author of a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15c in coin with a self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

Ganges Home Of Bridal Couple

Following their wedding at St. George's Church, Ganges, recently, Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Dawson are enjoying a honeymoon on Vancouver Island before returning to Ganges where they will make their future home.

For the ceremony, performed by Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, the former Phyllis Ann Donkersley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Donkersley, Ganges, chose a powder blue gabardine suit, a white hat, navy accessories, and carried a white prayer book crested with coral rosebuds. Miss Peggy Boyle was the only attendant, wearing a royal blue suit, white hat, white accessories and corsage of deep pink rosebuds.

Eugene Rogers, New Westminster, was best man and the bridal party was surrounded by a fragrant bower of Madonna lilies and roses. Mrs. V. C. Best played wedding music.

A reception was held in the garden at the home of the bride's parents and a toast to her happiness was proposed by J. B. Foubister. For traveling, Mrs. Dawson donned a white shortie coat over her suit.

I Like To Enjoy My Summer Holidays . . . not spend all my time in the kitchen. That's why I always take a good supply of FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATO to the cottage with me. They're easy to pack—not bulky. And, best of all, it takes just one minute to prepare delicious, creamy mashed potatoes with French's Instant Potato. That means I have more time to relax . . . less time in the kitchen. Just follow the simple directions on the package for the easiest-to-make mashed potatoes you've ever tasted. And so good! French's Instant Potato is made from top-quality potatoes, pre-cooked by a special process that preserves important nutriments—and wonderful flavour!

It's A Pleasure—When The Thermometer Soars—to make yourself a refreshing glass of NEW INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. Did you know?—it's 100% real coffee—made by a new process that keeps the flavour and aroma of freshly ground coffee. Yes, even the very colour and texture are the same. But there's that wonderful "instant" convenience you like so well . . . particularly handy for making iced coffee. You see, New Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee dissolves like magic in cold (or hot) water. And here's all you have to do to make iced coffee . . .

Place one heaping teaspoon of New Instant Chase & Sanborn in a tall glass. Half fill with tapwater and stir. Then add ice. That's all!

Here's How your baby can learn to drink from a cup without spilling a drop. Just give him the plastic baby tumbler (illustrated here) to drink from. It's a special offer from Heinz, the makers of your baby's favourite foods . . . HEINZ BABY FOODS. M-mmm!—those good meat food products, soups, vegetables and desserts—all expertly blended to give baby extra nourishment. And now Heinz offers this baby cup for just 25c with labels from any six tins of Heinz Baby Foods or from 3 Heinz Baby Cereals. Write to me for yours, enclosing labels and money in coin or stamps—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

I Hope you're having lots of sunny days this summer to enjoy your garden or porch. And here's a tip on how to enjoy your outdoor furniture. If it's chrome, you can keep it looking like new with S.O.S. Scouring Pads. Yes, S.O.S. will take that rust off in a twinkling. And that's not all S.O.S. can do to keep things sparkling around your home. Clean your porcelain tubs and basins with it. Easy, isn't it? And S.O.S. will quickly remove any starch burnt on your iron. You see, S.O.S. Scouring Pads are a "magical" combination of sturdy, interwoven fibres and grease-dissolving soap. Outdoors — indoors — S.O.S. is the handiest cleanser there is!

Dieting? Authorities on shedding poundage say that it's most important to eat a good breakfast. Keeps you from getting over-hungry and consequently over-eating through the rest of the day. They recommend a breakfast of fruit, cereal, skim milk, even bacon and an egg. For the cereal, I suggest hot "CREAM OF WHEAT". It gives you quick-starting food energy, plus iron for good red blood, and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in those elements. And "Cream of Wheat" is so delicious, too . . . smooth and delicate in flavour. I can't imagine a better quick start for a "diet day" than "Cream of Wheat."

Here We Are, smack in the middle of the cherry season. So, gather ye cherries while you may, and do down for all you're worth. But be sure you're doing them down with CERTO FRUIT PECTIN. If you follow the Certo recipes exactly, results are — always — so sure. Yes, Certo makes jam and jelly making a real treat. You can have jam or jelly in 1/3 the time of the former long-boil method, and get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. There are some delicious recipes using cherries, in the booklet under the label of each bottle of Certo, and there are lots of recipes for other fruits, too.

Want Cool, Delicious Thirst-Quenchers for the whole family — and friends when they drop in? Then stock up on SUNKIST LEMONS for iced tea and the best lemonade you've ever made.

Lemonade . . . Make a frosty-fresh pitcher of tangy Sunkist lemonade each morning. Keep it in the refrigerator and help yourself when you're hot and thirsty.

Iced Tea . . . with Sunkist Lemons. Be sure to cut the lemons in thick, juicy wedges. Then put them on the side of every glass of tea.

Yes, whether your favourite thirst-quencher is iced tea or lemonade . . . be sure to use Sunkist Lemons. They're the finest, juiciest grown and, incidentally, an excellent source of Vitamin C.

Some Evening Soon, when the dishes are done and the children are in bed, get out your bank book and count up your savings for the past twelve months. Have you been helping yourself generously enough from each month's pay-cheque . . . or are your savings almost non-existent? Perhaps they've all gone to the butcher, the baker and that little hat shop around the corner. This isn't fair to you. You should have money to show for last year's work. So why not promise yourself that this year's work is going to pay off in a neat little nest-egg in a Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL. Open yours tomorrow at your nearest branch of the B of M.

Drill Team Fetes Popular Officers

Misses Pat Smith and Kathie Willard were honored recently at a double shower, given by members of the Victoria Girls' Drill team, of which both honor guests are senior officers. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Myrt Okell, Larkdowne Road. The brides-elect were presented with corsages of gardenias surrounded by red rosebuds. Miss Smith's mother, Mrs. W. W. Smith, her groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Robert Burns, and Miss Willard's mother, Mrs. C. Willard, received corsages of white gladioli surrounded by pink roses and a single pink rosebud embedded in the centre of each gladiola.

A decorated swan, with "Major Pat" and "Major Kathie" written on it, contained the many gifts. "Major" is the rank both girls hold in the drill team.

Guests included Mrs. Peggy Birkett, Mrs. Eileen Gardiner, Mrs. Ann Coweery, Mrs. Eileen Goegan, Mrs. Shirley Dorohoy, Mrs. W. W. Smith, Mrs. C. Willard, Mrs. R. Burns and Misses Dot Popplewell, Jackie Quest, Jean Spedding, Gloria Murray, Betty Mae Outram, Fay Brown, Marie Johnson, Audrey McCormick, Amy Koller, Marilyn Wilson, Elfie Jernslet, Florence Tickle, Kathie Smith, Marg Creasey, Thelma Brewer, Lucille McBurney, Betty Dolman, Juanita Campbell, Maureen Smith, Doreen Renton, Betty Collis, Lorna Forsyth, Kay Morrish, Terry French and Norah Coleman.

Entertains for Visitors

Mrs. Russell Ker was hostess Wednesday morning at a coffee party at her Rockland Avenue home given to honor Mrs. Howard Miller, a visitor in the city from Los Angeles and her daughter Miss Suzanne Miller of San Francisco. Presiding at the coffee table were Mrs. Will Spencer and Mrs. T. M. Jones.

Mrs. Miller is spending the summer in Victoria but Miss Miller expects to return to San Francisco in several weeks' time.

Val Creelman Honored

Miss Val Creelman, bride-elect, was honored at the home of Mrs. Robert Erskine J., Balfour Road, Wednesday evening, when friends gathered to surprise her with a kitchen and pantry shower. Corsages of yellow and pink carnations were presented to the honor guest, her mother, Mrs. A. Creelman, and future mother-in-law, Mrs. R. Erskine, Sr. Gifts were contained in a basket decorated in blue, rose and white. Games were played and refreshments served.

Present were Mrs. A. Twamley, Mrs. A. Creelman, Mrs. R. Erskine, Sr., Mrs. A. Collier, Mrs. A. Hammer, Mrs. S. Davison, Mrs. T. Davison, Mrs. W. Wallace, Mrs. J. Erskine, Mrs. J. Hitchen, and Misses Vickie Huculak, Hilda Scavarda, Norma Creelman, Lorna Creelman, Donna Creelman, Laverna Carrigall and Dorothy Windle.

Also honoring Miss Creelman, Mrs. Ron Smith, Oswego Street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower, Monday evening, Miss Doreen Smith and little Donna Smith presented corsages to the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. Arthur Creelman and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. R. Erskine. A decorated umbrella held the gifts and was presented to the honor guest by Miss Donna Smith. Refreshments were served by the hostess from a table centred with sweet peas and baby's breath.

Guests were Mrs. A. Creelman, Mrs. R. Erskine, Mrs. G. A. Twamley, Mrs. J. Waggett, Mrs. L. Ettinger, Mrs. C. R. Goodmanson, Mrs. B. Heighes, Mrs. L. W. Smith, Mrs. E. A. Campbell, Mrs. R. K. Smith, and Misses Marion Heritage, Audrey Goodmanson, Norma Creelman, Doreen Smith and Donna Smith.

Entertain for Col. Logan

Members of Victoria branch, Psi Upsilon fraternity, entertained informally at luncheon in the Pacific Club, Wednesday, honoring Col. Harry T. Logan of the classics department, University of British Columbia. Col. Logan is well known in Victoria as former director of Fairbridge Farm School, Duncan.

Future Home in Vancouver

Mrs. Claire Scott who has been a member of the vital statistics department at the Parliament Buildings for many years is leaving Victoria on Friday to live in Vancouver where she will join the staff of the official administrator's office.

Prior to her departure Mrs. Scott has been much feted. In honor of her sister, Mrs. Herbert W. Davey entertained at her home on Moss Street, last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. P. Ford were hosts at dinner at their Queenswood home in honor of Mrs. Scott Sunday evening. Covers were laid for eight.

Members of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter of which Mrs. Scott is a member entertained in her honor at the Thorpe Place home of Mrs. Owen Fowler and Mrs. Norton Adamson and Miss Allison Chrow entertained at a bridge party at the Government Street home of the former.

Mrs. Scott's daughter, Miss Heather Scott, will stay in Victoria with Mrs. Herbert Davey until the fall when she will go to Vancouver to attend University of British Columbia.

Vacation in Europe

Miss Norma Douglas, director of music at Victoria High School, sailed Wednesday from New York aboard the Elizabethan, for a few weeks' visit in Great Britain and Europe. While overseas she plans to attend musical festivals in Paris and Switzerland.

Among guests at the Coronation Ball in Hurlingham, Eng., last week, which was attended by Her Majesty the Queen, was Major A. M. Taylor Spittal and Mrs. Taylor Spittal of this city.

Miss Wynne Shaw left this week for Seattle where she will attend Cornish School summer classes for teachers of dancing. She was accompanied by Miss Marie Maggiora who will also attend the school.

San Francisco Woman Here On Her Annual Vacation

By KITTY DIXON

A charming visitor to Victoria is Miss Marie Forman, San Francisco, who came to the city two weeks ago for the Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild exhibition, which she attends annually. Since her arrival she has been visiting her many friends, and on Monday at the Empress Hotel she entertained them all at her "annual" tea.

MISS MARIE FORMAN

When she came to the city on one of her numerous visits, four years ago, Miss Forman, who has been weaving for 14 years, heard of the Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild Exhibition. She went to see the display, and was so impressed, she joined the organization, becoming the only American member.

Miss Forman is an expert in the art of hand weaving. It is her hobby, and she creates fine fabrics just for the love of it. Like any true artist, she must be inspired.

"I cannot weave until an idea comes to me," she says. "I like to weave pretty things . . . things that are colorful and have originality in design and texture. Weaving plain yardage holds no interest for me."

Examples of her original ideas are a pair of lamp shades which she wove from broom corn, in its natural color. Miss Forman, who is self-taught, also likes to weave with ribbon and chenille. Her evening bags, combinations of wool, metallic thread and chenille, are exquisite.

She recently wove a stole of fine white wool with metallic thread and rhinestone trim for Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Friends of Miss Forman have told her that they saw Mrs. Eisenhower wearing the stole on a television program.

"I would consider it quite an honor, if she did, but as I did not see the program myself, I can't be sure," Miss Forman said.

Miss Forman is a court shorthand reporter by profession. She is a member of the Contemporary Weavers of California, and has exhibited in the De Young Museum in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, and in the Los Angeles County Fair, at Pomona, Calif.

"I just love Victoria women!" she said when she told of the numerous invitations she received for teas and dinners during her stay in the city. "And Victoria, itself, is Heaven." Miss Forman will return to San Francisco on Friday.

Church of England WA Holds Successful Party

The sun shone brightly, Thursday afternoon, for the garden party, held in the grounds of the Caroline Macklem Home, 1322 Rockland Avenue, by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada. Beneath the oak trees, guests bought articles sold at the various stalls, were served afternoon tea, and entertained by dancing pupils of Mrs. Katherine Costain.

Among guests were Archbishop and Mrs. H. E. Sexton, Dean P. R. Beattie, Canon and Mrs. R. Willis, Rev. F. Tomalin, Rev. and Mrs. N. Godkin, Canon and Mrs. F. Pike, Canon and Mrs. E. G. Munn, Canon A. E. Greenhalgh and Miss Kathleen Agnew. Mrs. Jessie Clark, Long Beach, Calif., a cousin of Miss Agnew, and Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McPhee, Detroit, Mich., visiting Victoria for the day, also attended.

In charge of stalls were Mesdames G. Jarvis, T. Vickers, N. P. Jobbins, T. C. Griffiths, W. C. Heathfield and A. Weston, needlework; Mrs. F. E. L. Philp, garden produce; Mrs. O. Brake, Mrs. S. Averill, ice cream; Mrs. K. Davies, Mrs. F. Watts, home cooking; Miss O. Schetzel, Mrs. M. Nicholson, tea; Mrs. R. J. Stephens, superfluities; Mrs. M. McKenzie, Mrs. A. E. Partridge, tea receipts; Mrs. Claude Gardiner, Lady Lake, receipts.

Guests of the home were in charge of a general work stall, under convenership of Mrs. E. Chester. Serviteurs were members of Christ Church, St. Mary's and St. Luke's Evening Branches.

Decorations were in a patriotic theme. There were several Union Jacks and red, white and blue draping fenced off the afternoon tea section.

Mrs. A. Edmonds, cashier, reported proceeds, which will be used as expenses for care of the home, amounted to $700. Guests were received by Miss Dorothea Mitchell, chairman of the board of governors, and Mrs. R. O. Taylor, president of the Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary. Mrs. B. P. Harding was general convener.

Married in Chase, Living at Needles

After a honeymoon spent in the Okanagan and at Kalamalka Lake, a Victoria man and his bride are making their home at Needles, B.C. The bride is Joan Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Chase of Chase, B.C., and the groom is Harry Thomas Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cole, 3593 Calumet Avenue, Victoria. The wedding took place at St. Andrew's United Church, Chase, Rev. Stuart Porteous performing the ceremony beneath a floral arch. Mrs. Ethel Byers, organist, and Eugene West, violinist, provided wedding music.

The bride wore her maternal grandmother's pearl and ruby bracelet for something old, and was gowned in white nylon net with a lace redingote. Her fingertip veil was held by a pearl tiara and she carried a spray bouquet of red roses and shasta daisies.

She was attended by her two sisters and a small cousin wearing flower-toned gowns with floral headdresses and carrying colonial bouquets. Bob Cole was his brother's best man and another brother, Don Cole and John Baker were ushers.

A reception was held at the Underwood Hotel, Chase, where J. S. Bailey, the bride's uncle proposed a toast and Mr. West sang "Because" and "O Promise Me."

Mrs. Cole traveled in a rose suit with white accessories and corsage of roses and white carnations. Among many out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Max Elder and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elder of Sooke; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cole, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Millar, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Warren and Don House, all of Victoria.

Vice-President Of World Group

Word has been received in Victoria that Miss Margaret Clay was elected a vice-president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women at triennial convention in Stockholm last week. Miss Clay, who left this city last September on a world tour, attended the Sweden convention as one of the delegates from Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Hospital Auxiliary Realizes $2,000 at Garden Fete

From a bunting decorated dais on the green lawn in front of Royal Jubilee Hospital, William S. Day declared the annual garden party of the Women's Auxiliary, officially opened, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Day, whose family has been actively connected with the hospital for many years, came from Vancouver especially for the occasion. He was introduced by Mrs. W. G. Crawford, auxiliary president. With him on the dais were Mrs. Day, Mr. George Masters, Mrs. Claude Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. James Thow, Alderman and Mrs. Mulliner, Mrs. William Thackray, and the co-conveners of the party, Mrs. J. L. Hobbs and Mrs. W. G. Thorpe.

During the afternoon a sum of $2,000 was realized for work of the auxiliary in the hospital.

Afternoon tea, served on the tennis court, was convened by Mrs. George Masters, assisted by Mesdames D. E. Fry, R. O. Bell, R. A. Dyke, C. L. McLaughlin, F. Hallas, R. S. Sinclair and G. F. Hillard.

Head table, arranged by Mrs. Fry and Mrs. Dyke, was set with white cutwork cloth and antique silver and crystal candelabra topped with dainty bouquets of deep purple and mauve stocks. Mrs. Claude Harrison presided at the silver tea service.

Individual tables were centred with Colonial bouquets made by Miss Carol Wootton. Student nurses assisted as serviteurs.

Door receipts were in charge of Mrs. F. J. Boughton, assisted by Mesdames P. E. Taylor, A. A. Blyth, J. McKibbon, E. O. Porritt, S. Okell and Miss S. Fraser; superfluities were handled by Mesdames H. B. Nash, T. Lumsden, M. Anderson and L. G. W. Tallamy; gifts and novelties, Mesdames A. V. Price, W. J. V. Church, C. W. Tolson and J. Watson.

A stork stall was run by Mesdames P. E. Corby, W. Ellis and D. Weaver; home cooking, Mesdames J. A. Wilson, A. Akerstrom, E. Stevens, R. McNeilly and G. Ferguson; tombolas, Mesdames E. Sheppard, W. F. Copeman, C. Lambe, P. R. Brown, F. McKenzie and Miss M. Curry; ice cream and pop, Mesdames A. Masters, F. C. Banks, J. F. Hough, Kringle and H. S. Southin.

Bingo games were in charge of Mrs. H. A. Patterson, Mr. P. E. Corby and members of the hospital staff; grocery hampers, Mesdames R. W. Watson, W. E. Goodwin, C. D. J. Christie and R. A. Batting; candy, Mesdames R. Barlow, G. Cohn, C. Greives and J. Barlow.

Children's entertainment was arranged by Mesdames H. J. Pinhorn, A. Wurtele, H. Street, G. Hoole, P. Williams, E. H. Street, DeBois, Mr. and Mrs. T. Scott and Frank Merryfield; fruit, flowers and vegetables sold by Mesdames J. H. Newton, R. Macleod and H. C. Andrews. Drawings for tombolas were made by Miss Lucie Woodrow and Mrs. Murray Anderson. Mrs. F. W. Watson was press convener.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Aim of Diabetes Treatment Is to Eliminate Urine Sugar

In response to several recent requests, some features of the important disease, diabetes, are discussed again.

Diabetes is a disease caused by failure of certain cells in the gland called the pancreas in the abdomen. When normal these cells prepare a substance which is emptied into the blood stream and regulates the use of sugar.

In diabetes something goes wrong and not enough material is prepared by these pancreatic cells. Thus sugar is no longer burned up satisfactorily and some of it is spilled over through the kidneys and eliminated in the urine. The amount of sugar lost in this way, however, is different in each patient.

The important object of treatment is to prevent the loss of sugar in the urine. When this is accomplished the symptoms almost always improve. Sometimes the loss of sugar in the urine can be prevented merely by adjusting the diet, especially by reducing sweets and starches or carbohydrates. Whether diet alone is enough can be discovered only by frequent chemical tests of the urine and occasional tests of the blood.

It is often impossible to eliminate the urine sugar by adjusting the diet alone and still give enough food to maintain health. In such cases, insulin has to be used but only enough to keep the urine free of sugar and to aid in the assimilation of food.

Because most of the sugar in the urine comes from sugar and starches in the food, almost all of those with diabetes must take less of these substances. Sugar, of course, is the ingredient principally responsible for "sweetness" and therefore almost any substance which is sweet contains more sugar than is desirable for a diabetic.

Persons who try to treat themselves for diabetes are taking a grave risk. It is impossible to know whether the disease is being controlled or not without careful testing.

I am often asked for a diet for diabetes. To supply any such thing would be dangerous because no two people with the disease need or should have exactly the same food and management.

Although victims of diabetes should always obtain expert medical care, they may learn more about their diseases by subscribing to the bi-monthly magazine, ADA Forecast, published by the American Diabetes Association, 11 West 42nd Street, New York 18, N.Y.

MARQUAND ILL

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (AP)—John P. Marquand, Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist, is under treatment for a heart ailment in Anna Jaques hospital. He was reported "resting comfortably."

Icebreaker D'iberville Going North

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's newest icebreaker, the CGS D'iberville, cast off from sun-baked Montreal today for a cool 12 weeks in Arctic waters.

But the trip will be strictly business, not pleasure.

The D'iberville, loaded with sufficient fuel oil for her 12,000-mile voyage, will sail to Newfoundland before turning north to Labrador and the islands off northern Quebec.

Her passengers include government scientists and Mounties, bearded missionaries and beardless Eskimos, and a Newfoundland magistrate who will fly ashore in one of the ship's two helicopters to swear in deputy returning officers for the Aug. 10 federal election.

In her holds she has food and medical supplies, mail for east Arctic outposts, trade goods and prefabricated barracks for a new RCMP base at Cape Herschel on lonely Ellismerc Island.

All the way north the ship will call at isolated stations to pick up and put down police officers, Hudson's Bay Company officials and missionaries.

Sixteen Eskimo families are being taken from Clyde River to points farther north where they believe game will be more plentiful. Four families are moving to the new RCMP post, others to Pond Inlet, Resolute Bay and Craig Harbor.

Before returning the D'iberville will rendezvous with the CGS C. D. Howe to take aboard members of the eastern Arctic patrol of the department of resources and development and health officials. The officials will transfer because the D'iberville will be pushing farther north than the Howe, which left here about two weeks ago.

Canadian Baptists Asking Freedom in South America

VANCOUVER (CP). — The Canadian government will be asked to make a "formal demand" for religious freedom in Colombia, the third triennial assembly of the Baptist Church in Canada announced Wednesday.

The announcement came following concluding sessions of the assembly Tuesday, when some 500 delegates passed a resolution regarding minority rights in the Roman Catholic South American country.

The resolution called on the "Canadian minister of external affairs to make a formal demand of the government of Colombia to protect the minority rights of all Protestant bodies in that republic."

Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., was elected new assembly president. At a simultaneous conference of the Baptist Young People's Union, F. Keith Haskins, Calgary, was elected president and Miss Margaret Orr, Victoria, vice-president.

The assembly called on British and United States foreign offices to protest "the recent imprisonment of Baptist pastors in Czechoslovakia and to ask for their early release."

Delegates complained strongly of Canada's liquor laws and decided that "the provincial prime ministers be advised of our dissatisfaction."

The assembly urged Baptists to sponsor immigration of Protestant families from Europe, and help them when they get here.

The governments of Alberta, B.C. and other provinces were commended for improving handling of juvenile offenders.

Cominco, Workers Sign New Pact

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—The 1953 collective agreement between locals 480 and 651 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Ind and the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada has been signed, a joint statement said Wednesday.

The agreement completed negotiations which began June 26 with conciliation board hearings.

The pact states that workers will receive the same pay as they did in 1952 and that men having 15 or more years of service with the company will be entitled to three weeks' vacation with pay.

SHIPS IDLED

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Nineteen British ships are lying idle in Hong Kong harbor, mainly because of serious Japanese shipping competition, shipbrokers said here today. A further 19 are laid up ready to be scrapped.

CCF Seeks Ruling on Rights Of Campaigners in Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — Mme. Therese Casgrain, Quebec CCF leader, has asked Justice Minister Garson and Premier Duplessis of Quebec for rulings on the right of municipalities to regulate public distribution of political campaign literature by candidates in the federal election.

Mme. Casgrain, who is a candidate in Jacques Cartier-La Salle riding in the Aug. 10 election, said she has sent the following telegram to the federal minister and Premier Duplessis, Quebec's attorney-general:

"For our information please advise whether federal candidates are subject constitutionally to municipal taxes and licenses and to the obligation of obtaining police permission when distributing official party literature in these national elections."

Mme. Casgrain said some Quebec municipalities impose license fees of $10 for each person distributing election campaign literature. She said police censorship of such literature is applied by other municipalities.

"The normal and legitimate activities of party supporters are rendered impossible by these by-laws," she said in a press statement. "Democracy cannot function in Canada if every municipality can exact a license from an official candidate who seeks to reach the electorate. Electors should have exactly the same right to promote their political views all over Canada . . . ."

DUPLICATE EXPERIENCE

Weekend Writer Meets Co-Campaigner Thorsen

The hordes of flies at Phillipville, North Africa . . . the deep valleys of blistering hot Sicily when soldiers at rest sought relief in the shade of orange and olive trees . . . the terrific grind on the hoof up the mountainous foot of Italy to start the Canuck "boot" fight . . . famous battle scenes like Campobasso, Ortona and others.

Memories of those Second World War days flooded back to Stanley Handman, Montreal, and Roy Thorsen, NCO's with the Canadian Army in the fight up the "soft" underbelly of Europe in that war, when they met in Victoria a few days ago.

Handman is with the Weekend Magazine, which is featured in this newspaper's Saturday editions. Thorsen is a reporter on the Times. Both deal with the same type of news-crime. The Weekend writer is after top features, the local man after local crime front.

Handman was here working on a B.C. feature for Weekend.

The pair found they had been next-door neighbors on the path of the Canadian forces from North Africa to deep into the heart of Italy. Handman was with the RCRs, Thorsen with the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada from Vancouver. Both "first divvers" they went through the same action mills, enjoyed leave fun and had similar "we'd like to forget" aspects of war.

After frontlining it most of the way up Italy, Handman, a former news-editor of The Montreal Standard, joined the staff of The Maple Leaf, popular Canadian forces' newspaper in Italy.

Thorsen was with the Seaforths up to and past the famous Ortona battle area. He later switched to the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, of Ottawa, and finished the war with that recee-unit-made-infantry.

Sea Cadets May Establish Camp In Sooke District

A special committee of the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada will consider a piece of property on Fork Lake, near Sooke, which reportedly may become available for establishment of a Sea Cadet camp.

The executive meeting of the Navy League was told that a recent carnival staged by members of Victoria's Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps netted approximately $1,850. The league sponsors the cadet organization.

The money will be used to maintain and promote a variety of activities within the cadet group.

Oak Bay Discusses Vending Fees

A new vending machine by-law was discussed at Oak Bay Council Wednesday. Municipal clery A. D. Findley noted that the lowest fee in Victoria was $25 for the first machine and $2 for each additional.

Cigarette machine operators in the city pay a license fee of $100 and $5 for each additional machine, he said.

Councillor George Gregory was not in favor of charging shopkeepers for vending machines.

"I feel that you are charging him for the use of a machine he is getting to do the same thing a girl clerk would, Councillor Gregary protested.

The use of cigarette machines by children was attacked. It was pointed out by Councillor Gregory that a license fee would not stop this practice, however. He noted his young daughter frequently purchased cigarettes for him over the counter with no difficulty.

"If we want to stop the machines on moral grounds; okay; but why charge the shopkeepers," Councillor Gregory argued.

The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Pickersgill Gives Account of Hotel Row

WINNIPEG (CP)—John W. Pickersgill, secretary of state, has explained his part in events leading to the controversial demotion of Robert S. Pitt, former manager of the CNR-owned Fort Garry Hotel here.

Mr. Pickersgill says he did not "complain" of Fort Garry service after a visit to the hotel last summer with Prime Minister St. Laurent, but he did tell CNR president Donald Gordon, in reply to a question, that the Fort Garry compared "unfavorably" with the competing railroad hotel in Winnipeg.

The state secretary gave his version of the incident in a lengthy memorandum to Mr. St. Laurent published in the Winnipeg Tribune. The memorandum was sent to the Tribune by Mr. Pickersgill in response to charges of "political interference" in last fall's removal of Mr. Pitt to the CNR's Prince Edward Hotel at Brandon, Man.

In his published memorandum, Mr. Pickersgill denied that he had staged an "outburst" in the Fort Garry lobby and had criticized Mr. Pitt personally, as had been contended before the Commons railway committee.

The cabinet member said there was no "outburst" and added that, as far as he knows, Mr. Pitt was not there at the time.

However, the minister said, he may have asked "rather sharply" for someone to show the Prime Minister to his room. Mr. Pickersgill said his comments about the Fort Garry service to Mr. Gordon were given when he was talking to the CNR president a couple of weeks later about a different matter. Mr. Gordon had asked how Mr. Pickersgill had found the service in the CNR's Western hotels.

Mr. Pickersgill said he told Mr. Gordon—as he recalled it—that:

"In Winnipeg the CPR is putting it over you like a tent, if my experience is any sample of what is going on."

Mr. Pickersgill then went on in his memorandum to detail some of his Fort Garry experiences, including difficulties in getting a room for Hon. Robert Mayhew, then fisheries minister, and himself.

He had added to Mr. Gordon that none of these things was important singly—and that his remarks should not be interpreted as a complaint—but that they seemed to indicate to him a "general slackness" about the CNR hotel.

No Matches, Please

FORT WASHAKIE, Wyo (UP)—Matches were handed with extra care at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Twitchell after their three-year-old son, Max, drank a can of cigarette lighter fluid. The boy suffered no serious ill effects.

Worry of FALSE TEETH

Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

NOTE to BRIDEGROOMS

She is young . . . so very young. She is wide-eyed & so naively sweet. She does not dream of great rooms, draped & hung, with master paintings, rugs where some queen's feet, have lightly trod. She dreams of this instead: A small new house with freshly painted floors, With hand-stitched curtains, & above her head, Bright dishes gleaming thru wee cupboard doors. She'll learn some day, the value of old things, When eagerness is still, & she is wise, Knowing the dis-illusionment time brings; But now—there's SO MUCH summertime in her eyes, And this is her first house . . . whate'er you do, Let everything about it . . . be NEW. Just like this suite . . . that sells on sight, 'Cause it is styled . . . and priced just right. And she'll love you more . . . you big galoot, If she has "her way" . . . BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

"Can you use this hand?" Sam Fry asked me at a recent tournament.

He doesn't play as much tournament bridge as he formerly did, but during past years he has won about every national championship. Hence I am always ready to look at any hand that Sam Fry may want to show me.

"The bidding is a little peculiar," Sam commented, "but the final contract isn't a bad one."

I had to agree with this statement. It was a little unusual for South to bid and rebid in no-trump with only a doubleton queen in the unbid suit. Nevertheless, the game at no-trump was the only reasonable game contract.

"West opens the six of hearts," Sam told me, "and East wins with the ace. East returns his remaining heart, and West wins with the king.

"Now comes the cute play. West leads a third heart, and dummy wins with the jack of hearts. East has to throw away the ace of diamonds on this trick in order to defeat the contract."

"Very pretty," I remarked.

"Do you think that East should make this play?" Sam Fry asked me. "The hand came up in a game the other day, and the actual East player failed to throw his ace of diamonds. Would you blame him?"

I wouldn't blame anyone for failing to make this beautiful play. Nevertheless, it might well be clear-cut.

If West carefully leads the nine of hearts on the third round of that suit, he indicates his entry is in a high suit rather than a low suit. Since the dummy has complete control of spades, it is clear that West's signal means that his entry is in diamonds rather than in clubs. This sort of signal by an expert West might induce an equally expert East to drop the ace of diamonds.

If East does drop the ace of diamonds, West will surely gain the lead with the queen of diamonds in time to run the hearts. If East saves the ace of diamonds, he must win his side's only diamond trick, and declarer makes his game contract, losing only two hearts and a diamond.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1953

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Take companions to place of amusement, entertainment. Sit down in relaxation and in good humor. Make plans for the future. Be sure to state other fellow's good points for amity.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Looking your best for business associates quickly brings you more orders and invitations where you need them most! Keep attractive; spruce up a bit.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Get in touch with loved ones, congenial friends. Accept invitations or give a soiree yourself for cherished ones. Then all tensions dissolve and con-improve at once.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Centre of activity is your home, in which some quiet pleasure brings added happiness and desired information. Be happy.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your mind is highly alert, so get in touch with friends and tell them of your present ambitions. Co-operate with them in their suggestions; exclude magnetism.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get off in a corner with powerful personage in the office. Tell of your aim to have more of this world's goods. Then listen earnestly to a plan outlined by your backer and take notes.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Your health needs toning up; get sense of physical well-being early. Then go out, make contacts with all who have different ideas—you may learn much from them.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There is a bigger opportunity for you to realize your worldly ambitions than there has been for some time, but you must go along with money wizard who knows the answers and can add to your knowledge. Be honest.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A chatty person in love with the sound of his own voice gives you some data you need without being aware of it. Take advantage of this break to round out your good fortune.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your prestige, worldly success is heightened by enlarging the scope of your material operations now. Look at the work you do best; see how it can bring you added revenue.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If possible get away for the week-end. Make new contacts if it is convenient. If not, look for different ways to make your own duties more efficient.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Sit down and study the overall picture of your present situation. Seek basically sound associates and discuss matters thoroughly. Arrive at more profitable way to make mutual ventures successful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

Friday's child will be so bubbling over with charm and attractiveness that almost everyone will hand whatever your offspring desires on a silver platter. Determine to keep your magnetic child unspoiled and teach that only what one earns himself (or herself) is truly arpreciated. The best vocation would be in professions catering to the desire of the general public for pleasure, entertainment or adornment.

TENSING'S OWN STORY

On each of the expeditions which followed, I watched the others carefully. No one taught me to climb. I learned from experience on every expedition. I learned what to do, and what not to do, and I soon knew which climbers to watch.

These expeditions gave me experience both on the old north route and the south route which opened up after the war. If you ask me to compare them, I would say that there are many dangerous parts on the northern approach.

From Camp Three to Camp Four on the north, it is dangerous because of avalanches. And below the summit on the north route, there is a very difficult cornice. Above it is rocks on which only small hand-holds are possible, making it very difficult to climb. You must cup your hands and slip your fingers in the small cracks in the rocks—when you can find them.

On the south route, in Khumbu glacier, from the Base Camp to Camp Three, there are seracs and crevasses which are changing all the time and this makes crossing very difficult. It must be done by straddling ropes or ladders.

From Camp Three to Camp Five on the southern route is easy, but Camp Five to the South Col is more dangerous, whether you take the direct route by the rock ridge or the longer route over the glacier.

During the last Swiss expedition, we took the direct route in the first climb before the monsoon. This path goes straight up over the ice-covered rock and the climb must be made in one day, because there is no good place to make a camp on the way.

This makes a very quick change to higher altitude and it usually makes the climbers sick.

After the monsoon, the Swiss tried the other route over the glacier, as they were trying to map the easiest routes. If there is no fresh snowfall, then this route is easy and comfortable because two camps can be made along the way. These were Camps Six and Seven of the British expedition.

But if there is a fresh snowfall on the side of Lhotse, it becomes dangerous, and if the snow gets waist deep, snowslides develop quickly.

Most people seem to be less interested in the problem of getting to the top than the fact that we got to the top. And after the expedition returned, it has been mostly Hillary, Colonel Hunt and myself who have received the most attention. It seemed that we three were particularly being congratulated for the success of the expedition, as though the success depended on three men.

Others Praised

The important job done by the others must not be forgotten. For example, take Major Wylie. He knew our language. He could speak and understand Nepalese well. How well could the Sherpas have gotten along without him?

All the members of the expedition this year were very good climbers. In my opinion, Westmacott and Dr. Evans were among the best from the technical point of view.

Perhaps in six months they will forget about us all.

That will not worry me. I wanted to do something for 30 years, and God has blessed my efforts. I have climbed to the top of Chomo Lung-Ma.

Mrs. Norkey's View

Tensing Norkey has asked his wife to add a postscript to his articles. She is in London with their two daughters, Nima and Pem Pem.

By CHERPANI ANG LAHMU
Wife of "Tiger" Tensing Norkey

Tensing is a dare-devil.

He never cares for his home.

I often told him that the ice is slippery, and if there is any accident to you, what will happen to me and the children?

The expeditions paid only 1,000 rupees (about $200) on death, and there was no pension. So why should he take all these risks?

Tensing relies to me: I am paid for climbing the ice. They don't pay me for play. I must do what I am paid for.

And then, you know, he doesn't like any other job. He likes climbing.

He also told me: I can't stop until I have climbed Mt. Everest. I would rather die on Everest than die in your hut.

I said all right, you win.

No Guarantee

He also used to say that if someone guaranteed to take care of his family and children he was ready to go to any limit and die trying to climb the mountain. But no one ever came with such an offer.

In the first expedition, they paid only 500 rupees in case of death. The Swiss improved it to 1,000 rupees. And this year, the British made it 2,000.

Now I tell him: You have conquered Mt. Everest. You are now entitled to some rest. That is what I have thought and said, but still I can't say what the future will bring.

I was preparing tea at home when I got the news of his success. The deputy commissioner in Darjeeling and a Sardar came to the house and said: "Listen. Have you heard? It came out on the radio."

I said I don't have a radio. I got nervous. What news could they bring?

They said: "Look cheerful. Tensing has conquered Everest!"

I cannot say how happy I was. In my joy, I could think of nothing properly. I will tell you, I was afraid too much joy may bring me heart failure.

Then letters and telegrams started coming in the whole day and night. They were all good and kind. But no letter from my Tensing.

My next anxiety was about safe descent.

On June 10, a letter came from him. It said: "Myself and one Sahib have been successful at Everest. Don't worry about me. Take good care of your health."

I was relieved. From the second to the 12th of June, I could take no meals. I had to face a stream of visitors. Then I decided to go to Katmandu. He didn't call me there (Tensing was still at Dulalghat, 45 miles from Katmandu), I went out of my own wish.

Now I am very happy. We will have a new home of our own and we hope to settle down to a life of rest.

God has given Tensing great fame, but we have not lost our head. We are the same old Tensings we have always been.

Crippled Man Fails to Save 3 of Family

QUADVILLE, Ont. (BUP)—A mother and two of her children were drowned in Cameron Lake near here last night while her crippled husband attempted futilely to save them.

Provincial police said the bodies of Mrs. Lila Yuke, 36; Barbara Yuke, 13, and Ivan Yuke Jr., 10, were recovered from 10 feet of water.

Ivan Yuke Sr., partially crippled Quadville store operator, and two smaller children were unable to save the trio.

The family was at the lake for an evening swim. Mrs. Yuke went to the assistance of her daughter when the girl strayed into deep water. When Mrs. Yuke and the girl both appeared to be in trouble, the boy tried to keep them afloat. He, too, became exhausted and was unable to reach shallow water.

BEES NOT SMOKE

DES MOINES, Ia. (UP)—Custodian Fred Willis rushed outside to investigate Wednesday when he received telephone calls telling him smoke was issuing from the state capitol dome.

Willis found a swarm of bees buzzing around the dome.

SHUSWAP LAKE TO BE PROBED

SICAMOUS, B.C. (BUP).—A fisheries department scientist began an investigation today into the killing of a number of fish in Shuswap Lake by what fishermen here said was a "mysterious monster."

Members of the Sicamous Fish and Game Club found trout gouged and torn with marks never before seen on fish in the district. One member reported dredging up the skeleton of an unknown species of fish which club officers said was an unusually large fish for the lake.

Rodker, Avison Perform In Summer School Series

Two Vancouver artists won high praise from Summer School students here when they appeared Wednesday morning in recital at Victoria High School.

Marie Rodker, contralto, and John Avison, pianist, presented an all-German concert, featuring works of Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert, Hugo Wolf and Richard Strauss.

Miss Rodker, before coming to Canada, appeared professionally on European concert stages. Mr. Avison is known to radio listeners as conductor of the CBC orchestra at Vancouver.

JELLIED SALMON

To 2 cups of flaked Clover Leaf salmon add juice of 1 lemon, ½ tsp. of salt, dash of red pepper, 1 or 2 sliced hard cooked eggs and 2 tbsp. of green peas. Dissolve 1 tbsp. of gelatin to make 1 pint of liquid (use water—¼ cup of cold to soak it in and the remainder hot.) Pour over first mixture in small or large moulds. Chill and serve on lettuce. Serves 6. A gelatin mixture, flavoured with lemon, plus 2 tbsp. of vinegar and salt to season, may be used instead of plain gelatin.

BUILDING TOWARD CLIMAX

Irene Byatt, Beethoven to Cap Sunday's Symphony Concert

BY AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Anyone knows that the rule of good showmanship as well as good artistry, is that of the cumlative effect. In other words, whether it's a story, a stage show or a series of events, there should be a steady building up to a climax!

This is exactly what has been achieved by Hans Gruber in preparing his Victoria Symphony programs for the concerts at the Butchart Gardens. Release of the details for next Sunday's concert shows that this one is, by any taste, the best, and a veritable treasure chest of musical joys.

Announcement of the appearance of Miss Irene Byatt, fresh from her successes in England, as guest soloist, will be greeted with enthusiasm by many music lovers. Miss Byatt's magnificent contralto voice is ideally suited to the special circumstances of singing outdoors, as well as with an orchestra.

NOTABLE EXCEPTION

The program with one notable exception, is devoted to operatic music of the best loved kind. It opens with Bizet's Orchestral Suite from "Carmen," after which Miss Byatt will sing two arias; the haunting "When I Am Laid in Earth," from Purcell's "Dido and Aneas," and "Che Faro" from "Orpheus and Eurydice" by Gluck.

Leaping into the sunny fields of light opera, the orchestra will follow with the orchestral suite from Rogers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma."

After the intermission two of the numbers rained out last week will be included. These are the Strauss overture to "Die Fledermaus" and the much anticipated "Pastorale" Symphony of Beethoven. Also, Irene Byatt will again appear singing a number for which she has been highly praised—the Habanera from "Carmen."

NO TRAFFIC JAMS

So varied and so attractive a program promises to bring Victorians and visitors to the Garden in even greater numbers, but doubtful drivers need not worry about resultant traffic jams. Everything possible has been done by Ian Ross and his assistants to see that traffic is handled even more efficiently than on previous occasions.

It is also emphasized that anyone wishing to be present, but who through any disability whatsoever, feels unable to make the trip on foot from the parking lot, has only to inform the commissionaires on duty and the car in question will be directed to the gates to discharge its passengers.

Two FOR THE Show

By PHIL LEE

AA—Oscar Class; A—Don't Miss; BB—Worthwhile; B—For a Rainy Afternoon; C—To Put in Time.

(A) "PICK-UP ON SOUTH STREET" (Capitol) — One of Hollywood's brightest lights, Richard Widmark, does it again.

He has that infallible touch.

In "Pick-up on South Street" the hero of the sparkling comedy "My Pal Gus" and the comedy-drama "Operation Gobi," Widmark of the ready fists and dirty, distainful laugh, plays the part of a cunning-fingered pickpocket who steals the wallet from sultry Jean Peters on a South Street subway.

Here Widmark becomes involved in a Red spy ring. For while he picks the purse Miss Peters is being watched by FBI men as a suspected courier for the Communists. The wallet that Widmark lifts contains a valuable piece of microfilm picturing top secret data.

This is a picture with laughs that point up the suspense and drama. Highlight of the whole is the magnificent chore performed by capable actress Thelma Ritter as Moe, the stool pigeon, the informer who uses the money to buy herself a plot and a gravestone. It would not surprise this corner one mite if Miss Ritter doesn't receive nomination for a supporting Oscar role. Her underworld linguese is wonderful.

"Pickup On South Street" can't be considered under "Oscar class" but it is a strong vehicle of its kind. Indeed this is the type of film that if it were produced often enough would leave Hollywood without fear of competition from TV or any other entertainment outlet.

Bodies of Three U.S. Bear Hunters Found

GASPE, Que. (CP) — Bodies of three American hunters, missing more than a month in woods west of here, were found late Wednesday.

The three hunters were identified as Eugene H. Lindsey, 47, his son, Robert, 17, and Albert Clark, 20, all of Holidaysburg, Penn.

The bodies were reported found about three miles from their abandoned truck. Searchers found the truck about 65 miles west of here last Friday.

The men entered the forest about June 12 on a bear-hunting trip. They drove along an old logging road along a river, planning to stay in the Gaspe wilderness about two weeks. They had no guide.

Vancouver Appears Headed for Worst Traffic Toll

VANCOUVER (CP)—Greater Vancouver is apparently headed toward its worst traffic death toll in history, a survey showed Wednesday.

There have been 32 deaths in the metropolitan area this year compared with 18 in the same months of 1952. Hardest hit section was Burnaby, where the ratio was 9-0.

Traffic warnings, safety programs and cancellation of drivers' licenses have failed to hold the accident count at last year's level.

Council Aims By-Law At Single Youth

TORONTO (BUP) — Long Branch council today promised Police Chief Robert Smyth a new by-law aimed at one 17-year-old boy.

Smyth demanded a law to bar people from keeping wild pets —especially Donald Cooper.

The chief didn't say a word when he had to shoot Cooper's rampaging raccoon when it went mad. But he called for the new law after the fire department, police chief and tree climbing experts were summoned to rescue an athletic monkey from treetops.

EPIDEMIC ABATES

STOCKHOLM (CP) — A paratyphoid epidemic in Sweden abated early in July after raging almost a month. Almost 4,000 people became victims, about 50 of whom died.

TRAINING RECRUITS

CAPETOWN (CP) — About 9,000 men will be posted next January to army, air force, navy and marine active citizen force units throughout the Union of South Africa to begin a new training plan. Recruits will spend an initial continuous training period of three months in camp.

K2 EXPEDITION

NEW DELHI (AP) — The American expedition cimbing K2, the word's second-highest peak, in Kashmir, set up its first camp at 18,200 feet on June 28, five days ahead of schedule.

Reds Given Until Saturday on Truce

Atom War Said Discussed; UN Counter-Attack Bogs

Compiled from UP, AP Dispatches

SEOUL, Korea—War or peace?

Events appeared to be building to a climax in the three-year Korean war conflict today.

ON THE TRUCE FRONT the United Nations command has given the Communists 48 hours in which to give a "yes" or "no" answer to a new proposal designed to break a truce deadlock.

ON THE WAR FRONT Red Chinese forces fought off a surprise South Korean and American counter-thrust on the blazing central front today, and bit off new gains of their own with a 12,000-man assault on a vital hinge near Kumhwa at the base of the old Iron Triangle.

Meanwhile, in Washington, a massive effort to defeat the Communists with atomic weapons is reported a possibility if the Reds elect to continue the Korean war instead of signing an armistice, Charles Corddry, UP Washington correspondent, reports.

First indication that the UN had sent an ultimatum to the Reds came when a messenger sprinted from a helicopter to the truce hut at Panmunjom Wednesday. He delivered a teletyped message from Tokyo, Allied supreme headquarters, to Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, the chief allied negotiator.

It was announced soon afterward that there would be a 48-hour recess in the truce talks, with the next meeting to start at 2 p.m. Saturday.

It was indicated that the recess was agreed on so that the Communists could study a new proposal concerning the promise of South Korean President Syngman Rhee to abide by an armistice.

The UN command, it was reported, told the Reds it wanted a showdown and that they had until Saturday to come up with a definite answer. This answer might tell whether the truce talks are to continue, with some hope of an early armistice or whether the UN command will call an indefinite recess.

Harrison had walked out on the Communists at Wednesday's meeting.

Red Attack Builds Up Rapidly

On the war front three RoK divisions of 45,000 men had regained a mile of lost ground in the 20-mile Red bulge southeast of Kumhwa before halting at the enemy's main line of resistance below the Kumsong River.

American tanks, supported by big guns and planes, spearheaded the RoK counterattack.

The new Chinese blow fell east of Sniper Ridge and west of the Nam-Dae River, to the right of the wedge driven into Allied lines by 80,000 Reds earlier in the week.

American advisory officers said at least 10 Red battalions—more than a division—struck the RoK division on both sides and in the middle. One of the Communist battalions pushed 200 yards into RoK defenses on the left flank, but the right and centre flanks held firm.

The Chinese attack began about 7 p.m. and built up rapidly. It was preceded by 2,000 artillery and mortar shells—a comparatively small number.

"From now on it's going to be rougher," an American officer told United Press correspondent William Miller.

Plans envisioning large scale use of A-bombs were prepared in the Pentagon but shelved prior to the current series of truce talks, military sources revealed today.

President Eisenhower has sole authority under the law to order use of atomic weapons in war.

BUCK SEES COALITION OF LPP, CCF, SOCREDS

REGINA (CP)—Tim Buck said Wednesday night he foresees a future coalition of the Labor-Progressive Communist party he heads, the CCF and Social Credit to "defeat monopoly capitalism."

"We will fight for that coalition of the new parties," Mr. Buck said in an election campaign address to an audience of 184 people which left wide unoccupied spaces in the 1,800-seat Exhibition auditorium.

"It will be a national crusade and by the logic of history, it is also Canada's path to socialism."

MARGARET TURNS HOME

Lonely London Awaits Princess

LONDON (UP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend took up his new duties in Belgium today on the eve of Princess Margaret's return from Africa to what may be a "lonely" London.

Most London morning newspapers printed brief stories on Townsend's arrival Wednesday in Brussels, whose transfer has been described by part of the press as "exile" because of his rumored romance with Margaret.

Police were called to keep about 30 women back when Townsend arrived at the embassy.

Reports of an "impossible" romance between the 22-year-old princess, third in line to the throne, and the divorced commoner has spurred discussion and controversy throughout the Commonwealth.

Margaret and the Queen Mother are due back Friday from their tour of Southern Rhodesia. They will stop briefly at Entebbe, Uganda; Khartoum, Sudan; Beirut, Lebanon and Rome.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret today left this British self-government colony at the close of a 16-day tour.

With the smiling princess by her side, she paused at the top of the steps to the plane for a last wave to cheering crowds.

First stop will be Entebbe, Uganda, where they will attend a garden party before leaving for Khartoum in the Sudan. They are due at London airport Friday morning after a four-hour stop at Rome in the middle of the night.

During the tour, the Queen mother and the princess have travelled 1,146 miles by train and more than 500 miles by motor car.

We Climbed Mt. Everest

BY 'TIGER' TENSING

"Tiger" Tensing Norkey, the Sherpa who conquered Mt. Everest, is going back to India to teach young men to climb mountains. The world's highest peak has been scaled, but there are others just as difficult to master.

In the final article which he dictated to the United Press, checking back on each translation, he describes his plans for the future.

I cannot say if I will ever do any more high climbing.

My wife, I can tell you, is not in favor of seeing me up on the high mountains again. After the expedition was over and before coming to London, I went to see my mother at her home. She always worried about her only son and she too hates the idea of my climbing again.

But then you never know what the future will bring.

My first job after I return from London—and after I am free of all these receptions—will be to take charge as director of a climbing school in Darjeeling which the West Bengal government proposes to create. It is my desire to teach all the young men of India who want to be mountaineers.

What brought me to climbing mountains, especially Chomo Lung-Ma?

First of all, we can see the mountains from my native village of Tami in the Solo Khumbu district. Khumbu is a Sherpa province and the home of the Khumbu glacier.

My father had a great many yaks, and I used to follow the yaks up to say 14,000 feet. It was then that I first really saw the mountain.

My father used to point to it and say: "This is Chomo Lung-Ma." I thought what fun it would be to get to the top.

I was a poor boy in Solo Khumbu. All around me, everyone was poor. There was no school. There was no opportunity for me to learn to read and write.

I wish I could have had that opportunity. I send my two girls to school. Maybe when I return from London, I will have more time and I can study.

(Tensing speaks Nepali and Hindi, and some English).

In 1933, many of the men from our village went to Darjeeling. They came back and told many stories about the mountaineering expeditions they had worked on as high-altitude porters. I listened to them with interest.

Two years later, I heard stories again that they were asking for Sherpas in Darjeeling for a Himalayan expedition. This time I thought I was old enough so I left Tami and went to Darjeeling. I found that (Eric) Shipton was organizing a party.

When Shipton came around to pick the Sherpas, I stood aside. I was young and I thought I may not be recruited, but perhaps they still would let me go along with them to help.

Shipton called me to come. But the other Sherpas and climbers said "No, he is too young."

But Shipton let me join anyway and I was taken into the party.

Naturally, I didn't do much climbing that time. They gave me a few minor jobs. And lucky for me, this first expedition was to Chomo Lung-Ma, even though it was only a reconnaissance.

I was very well looked after by the Shipton party. I was very fond of them and they were fond of me.

AIR MASS DUEL

Heat Wave Coming? Well, Not Exactly

Heat wave coming up

Well . . . "No" . . . says weatherman Bill Mackie.

Victorians, tired of a long, cold spring and looking forward to the city's usual balmy weather, took a jaundiced view of Mr. Mackie's opinion that a break in the current lengthy and obnoxious cool spell will be touch and go.

Mr. Mackie said today's warm temperatures of up to 70 degrees marked a "breathing spell" only in a fight for control of Vancouver Island's weather between two opposing air masses.

Heat wave coming up?

Well . . . No . . . says weatherman Bill Mackie.

It will be touch-and-go within the next few days whether the weather around Victoria will take a definite turn for the better.

Mr. Mackie likened today's warm temperature which reached a high of 70 degrees as just a "breathing spell" between two opposing pressure areas vying for control of Vancouver Island.

If a low pressure area from the Gulf of Alaska should break through a ridge of high pressure around Vancouver Island then Victorians can look forward to more cloudy and cool days, he said.

But if the high pressure ridge should ward off the low pressures, then Victorians may enjoy clear and sunny skies, he added.

The weatherman said for at least another day the temperature would rise to 70 degrees, but after that nothing was certain. He did not see any possibility of another heat wave hitting Victoria yet.

"We are more likely to get cloudy skies over the week-end," he said.

Canadian Girl Stabbed To Death in New York

Young Salesman Takes Life of Singer In Broadway Hit Show Then Shoots Self

NEW YORK (BUP)—A tiny blonde "hit show" singer was stabbed to death in her fashionable apartment today by a young salesman who scribbled an apology beside her body and then went home and shot himself through the heart.

Beautiful Florence Forsberg 25, her throat slit from ear to ear and her nude body stabbed in 14 places, lay between two beds in the neatly furnished apartment she shared with two concert pianists, presently on tour.

Fellow members of the cast of the hit musical "Wonderful Town" described the petite singer as "enchantingly beautiful" and "one of the nicest girls on Broadway." The players were stunned by her murder.

Scribbled in ink on a musical advertisement beside the singer's body were these words: "I'm sorry it had to happen this way, but I could not take it with all the liquor and affection. Les."

Some 40 blocks away, beside the body of Lester Johnsen, also 25, his mother and sister found another note which led police to the pretty soprano's apartment off Central Park.

"I killed or contributed to the death of an actress named Flo at 34 West 69th Std."

Miss Forsberg, a native of Fort Frances, Ont., had been singing in the chorus of the hit musical and understudying Edith Adams, the "Sister Eileen" to Rosalind Russell's starring role.

Johnsen's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Johnsen, said the couple had been friends for some time.

Neither had given any indication to friends of personal troubles, police said.

Miss Forsberg's father, Bert, was notified of her death at Fort Frances, Ont., where he operates a clothing business, and is on his way to New York.

Timmins Miners Defy Court Order

TIMMINS, Ont. (BUP)—One thousand grim-faced miners defied a court order to stop picketing today in a "chips down" strike that threatened the entire Porcupine gold field.

The members of the Porcupine Mine Workers' Union tripled their lines around Broulan Reef Mine today.

They agreed unanimously at a mass meeting Wednesday night to risk jail terms rather than stop picketing. All the non-striking locals in Canada's biggest gold-producing area attended the meeting.

Seattle Times Strike-Bound

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle local of the American Newspaper Guild CIO went on strike against the Seattle Times today in a dispute over wages and some other provisions of their contract.

Pickets were posted at all the entrances to the building housing Seattle's only afternoon newspaper.

The city also is served by a morning newspaper, the Post-Intelligencer, which has a later afternoon edition.

A guild statement said the guild seeks a 7.3 per cent increase. It said the Times has offered an increase averaging 3.5 per cent.

IT WAS CAMP, NOT LAMP, SO PUZZLE PRIZE UP AGAIN

A good definition for holiday time fooled the bulk of Times crossworders in puzzle No. 16. To the definition "may need a supply of electricity, of course," the puzzle compiler gives the answer "camp." Most puzzlers answered "lamp." Due to this and others errors there were no winners this week, which means that puzzle No. 17, appearing Friday, Saturday and Monday will be worth $75, plus a $50 bonus if a winner is a regular subscriber. The correct answer to puzzle 16 is on page 11.

Nationalists Attack Red Island

TAIPEH, Formosa AP—Seaborne Chinese nationalist guerrillas attacked an important Red-held island off the China coast today in the biggest operation of its kind since nationalist troops abandoned the mainland in 1949.

Government officials said fighting was still under way. The raid was described as "very successful."

Target of the attack was Tnugshan Island between the China ports of Amoy and Swatow, about 150 miles west of Formosa.

Tungshan is an important control point for Communist coastwise traffic.

Authoritative sources here said it seemed likely that recent reports of Red troop concentrations on the Chekiang coast for a possible strike against the Tachen Islands might have been inspired by the Nationalists to divert Red attention from the impending raid on Tunshan hundreds of miles to the south.

West Germans Reject Parley On Elections

BONN, Germany (UP)—A proposal by the East German Communists for an immediate conference on organizing all-German elections will be rejected emphatically by the West German government, it was announced today.

"One does not deal with puppets," a government spokesman said.

The East German cabinet proposed Wednesday night a "free all-German election" which would lead to unification of the country.

Observers here feel the East German proposal was made in an attempt to match the United States-British-French invitation to Russia for a Four Power conference of foreign ministers on Germany and Austria.

There is every indication, however, that the Western Powers—which are consulting the Bonn government in their moves—will sit tight until the Kremlin has replied to their notes suggesting a Big Four meeting.

Swiss Ready to Host Big-Four Conference

BERN, Switzerland (UP)—The Swiss government has agreed to play host to the proposed four-power foreign ministers conference if they can agree on Switzerland as a site, highly-placed sources disclosed today.

PREMIER ACCUSED OF BAD FAITH

Government Employees Association Spokesman Critical of New Policy

The provincial government is not bargaining in good faith with the B.C. Government Employees' Association, Jack Maguire, the association's research director, claims.

He was commenting on Premier Bennett's announcement of institution of a five-day week for about half B.C.'s 10,000 civil servants August 1. The remainder are scheduled to get the shorter week when details can be worked out.

"The government has not contacted us since negotiations broke off at the end of January, and our feeling is that the premier is not bargaining in good faith.

"It (the plans for five-day week) looks very much like an offer we got from the old coalition government which the workers turned down," Mr. Maguire said.

The offer was turned down because the civil servants wanted a "five-day maximum 40-hour week" throughout.

The new proposal will mean that institutional and outside workers, who put in a 44-hour week, will have to compress those hours into five days. This means a nine-hour day for four days and an eight-hour day for the fifth day.

The association objects to Premier Bennett announcing the five-day week without giving the association an opportunity to express its views. Top officials consider the government is not bargaining in good faith because of this.

Author H. Belloc, Dies From Burns

GUILDFORD, Eng. (UP)—Hilaire Belloc, 82, one of Britain's best-known contemporary authors, died today at a nursing home here.

The internationally-noted essayist, poet, historian and wit suffered severe burns last Sunday when he fell into the fireplace at the home where he lived with his daughter and son-in-law.

Westwood May Ask Special Court

Nanaimo Social Credit candidate Earle Westwood, who will appeal the county court ruling refusing him a recount, may ask for a special sitting of the Court of Appeal to expedite proceedings.

He told The Times from Nanaimo today he wants to get the matter settled as quick as possible, and that his lawyer, Murray Reynolds, is in Vancouver today on the case.

He declined to state if he will definitely ask for a special sitting.

The Court of Appeal is not scheduled to sit again until Sept. 8. Its sittings are set by statute.

If a special sitting cannot be arranged, then the whole recount question will have to hang fire until September.

RECOUNT AT LILLOOET DISALLOWED BY JUDGE

Socred Candidate Seeks Act Amendment

VANCOUVER (CP)—A second recount of provincial election ballots was disallowed by a County Court judge today.

On the heels of a rejection of a recount of Nanaimo-the-Islands ballots by Judge L. A. Hanna, Vancouver county court Judge H. A. Sargent today decided he had no authority to accept an application for a recount of Lillooet ballots.

Meanwhile, defeated Social Credit candidate Earle C. Westwood announced that he had decided to go ahead with a supreme court appeal against Judge Hanna's decision.

Solicitor Donald Mann, who applied for the Lillooet recount on behalf of defeated Social Credit candidate Conrad Olafson, announced after Judge Sargent's ruling that he would take no further action on the matter, but would recommend to the government that an amendment be made to the Elections Act.

A third recount was made Wednesday with no objections of the judge in Skeena riding. Judge W. O. Fulton carried out the recount at Smithers, but it did not change the result of the June 9 election of Frank Howard, the CCF standard bearer.

The recount was asked by defeated Liberal Lionel Houle.

A fourth and final recount is scheduled to get underway Friday before senior Vancouver county court Judge Bruce Boyd. It is being held on behalf of Liberal W. R. MacDougall who questions the election of George Tomlinson, Social Credit.

BUCK SEES COALITION OF LPP, CCF, SOCREDS

REGINA (CP)—Tim Buck said Wednesday night he foresees a future coalition of the Labor-Progressive Communist party he heads, the CCF and Social Credit to "defeat monopoly capitalism."

"We will fight for that coalition of the new parties," Mr. Buck said in an election campaign address to an audience of 184 people which left wide unoccupied spaces in the 1,800-seat Exhibition auditorium.

"It will be a national crusade and by the logic of history, it is also Canada's path to socialism."

We Climbed Mt. Everest

BY 'TIGER' TENSING

"Tiger" Tensing Norkey, the Sherpa who conquered Mt. Everest, is going back to India to teach young men to climb mountains. The world's highest peak has been scaled, but there are others just as difficult to master.

In the final article which he dictated to the United Press, checking back on each translation, he describes his plans for the future.

I cannot say if I will ever do any more high climbing.

My wife, I can tell you, is not in favor of seeing me up on the high mountains again. After the expedition was over and before coming to London, I went to see my mother at her home. She always worried about her only son and she too hates the idea of my climbing again.

But then you never know what the future will bring.

My first job after I return from London—and after I am free of all these receptions—will be to take charge as director of a climbing school in Darjeeling which the West Bengal government proposes to create. It is my desire to teach all the young men of India who want to be mountaineers.

What brought me to climbing mountains, especially Chomo Lung-Ma?

First of all, we can see the mountains from my native village of Tami in the Solo Khumbu district. Khumbu is a Sherpa province and the home of the Khumbu glacier.

My father had a great many yaks, and I used to follow the yaks up to say 14,000 feet. It was then that I first really saw the mountain.

My father used to point to it and say: "This is Chomo Lung-Ma." I thought what fun it would be to get to the top.

I was a poor boy in Solo Khumbu. All around me, everyone was poor. There was no school. There was no opportunity for me to learn to read and write.

I wish I could have had that opportunity. I send my two girls to school. Maybe when I return from London, I will have more time and I can study.

(Tensing speaks Nepali and Hindi, and some English).

In 1933, many of the men from our village went to Darjeeling. They came back and told many stories about the mountaineering expeditions they had worked on as high-altitude porters. I listened to them with interest.

Two years later, I heard stories again that they were asking for Sherpas in Darjeeling for a Himalayan expedition. This time I thought I was old enough so I left Tami and went to Darjeeling. I found that (Eric) Shipton was organizing a party.

When Shipton came around to pick the Sherpas, I stood aside. I was young and I thought I may not be recruited, but perhaps they still would let me go along with them to help.

Shipton called me to come. But the other Sherpas and climbers said "No, he is too young."

But Shipton let me join anyway and I was taken into the party.

Naturally, I didn't do much climbing that time. They gave me a few minor jobs. And lucky for me, this first expedition was to Chomo Lung-Ma, even though it was only a reconnaissance.

I was very well looked after by the Shipton party. I was very fond of them and they were fond of me.

Surrender Rank?

LONDON (AP)—The Catholic Herald, a Roman Catholic newspaper, says today Princess Margaret should surrender all Royal rank and status if she decides to marry Peter Townsend, divorced air hero.

The publication added its views to the controversy in the press and among the public over the reported romance of Margaret, 22, and Townsend, 38, who was granted a divorce last year because of his wife's misconduct with a London businessman.

Paper Suspends

SEATTLE (BUP)—Nearly 250 editorial and certain other employees of the Seattle Times went on strike today and the newspaper management said publication of Seattle's largest paper will be suspended indefinitely.

The American Newspaper Guild, Local 82, called the work stoppage after failing to reach an agreement on a new contract.

The guild represents members of the Times editorial, advertising and circulation departments.

Claim Run-Around

APPLEDALE, B.C. (CP)—Two Slocan Valley organizations today charged the provincial government with giving them "the run-around" in their attempts to cope with the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor problem.

The Slocan Citizens' committee and the Railway Brotherhoods' local committee said "numerous" telephone calls had been made without success to the offices of Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Bonner.

Saturday Deadline For Reds on Truce

Allies Deliver Ultimatum As Korea Events Near Climax; UN Counter-Attack Bogs

Compiled from UP, AP Dispatches

SEOUL, Korea—War or peace?

Events appeared to be building to a climax in the three-year Korean war conflict today.

ON THE TRUCE FRONT the United Nations command has given the Communists 48 hours in which to give a "yes" or "no" answer to a new proposal designed to break a truce deadlock.

ON THE WAR FRONT Red Chinese forces fought off a surprise South Korean and American counter-thrust on the blazing central front today, and bit off new gains of their own with a 12,000-man assault on a vital hinge near Kumhwa at the base of the old Iron Triangle.

Meanwhile, in Washington, a massive effort to defeat the Communists with atomic weapons is reported a possibility if the Reds elect to continue the Korean war instead of signing an armistice, Charles Corddry, UP Washington correspondent, reports.

First indication that the UN had sent an ultimatum to the Reds came when a messenger sprinted from a helicopter to the truce hut at Panmunjom Wednesday. He delivered a teletyped message from Tokyo, Allied supreme headquarters, to Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, the chief allied negotiator.

It was announced soon afterward that there would be a 48-hour recess in the truce talks, with the next meeting to start at 2 p.m. Saturday.

It was indicated that the recess was agreed on so that the Communists could study a new proposal concerning the promise of South Korean President Syngman Rhee to abide by an armistice.

The UN command, it was reported, told the Reds it wanted a showdown and that they had until Saturday to come up with a definite answer. This answer might tell whether the truce talks are to continue, with some hope of an early armistice or whether the UN command will call an indefinite recess.

Harrison had walked out on the Communists at Wednesday's meeting.

Red Attack Builds Up Rapidly

On the war front three RoK divisions of 45,000 men had regained a mile of lost ground in the 20-mile Red bulge southeast of Kumhwa before halting at the enemy's main line of resistance below the Kumsong River.

American tanks, supported by big guns and planes, spearheaded the RoK counterattack.

The new Chinese blow fell east of Sniper Ridge and west of the Nam-Dae River, to the right of the wedge driven into Allied lines by 80,000 Reds earlier in the week.

American advisory officers said at least 10 Red battalions—more than a division—struck the RoK division on both sides and in the middle. One of the Communist battalions pushed 200 yards into RoK defenses on the left flank, but the right and centre flanks held firm.

The Chinese attack began about 7 p.m. and built up rapidly. It was preceded by 2,000 artillery and mortar shells—a comparatively small number.

"From now on it's going to be rougher," an American officer told United Press correspondent William Miller.

Plans envisioning large scale use of A-bombs were prepared in the Pentagon but shelved prior to the current series of truce talks, military sources revealed today.

President Eisenhower has sole authority under the law to order use of atomic weapons in war.

AIR MASS DUEL

Heat Wave Coming? Well, Not Exactly

Heat wave coming up?

Well . . . "No" . . . says weatherman Bill Mackie.

Victorians, tired of a long, cold spring and looking forward to the city's usual balmy weather, took a jaundiced view of Mr. Mackie's opinion that a break in the current lengthy and obnoxious cool spell will be touch and go.

Mr. Mackie said today's warm temperatures of up to 70 degrees marked a "breathing spell" only in a fight for control of Vancouver Island's weather between two opposing air masses.

If a low pressure area from the Gulf of Alaska should break through a ridge of high pressure around Vancouver Island then Victorians can look forward to more cloudy and cool days, he said.

But if the high pressure ridge should ward off the low pressures, then Victorians may enjoy clear and sunny skies, he added.

The weatherman said for at least another day the temperature would rise to 70 degrees, but after that nothing was certain. He did not see any possibility of another heat wave hitting Victoria yet.

"We are more likely to get cloudy skies over the week-end," he said.

IT WAS CAMP, NOT LAMP, SO PUZZLE PRIZE UP AGAIN

A good definition for holiday time fooled the bulk of Times crossworders in puzzle No. 16. To the definition "may need a supply of electricity, of course," the puzzle compiler gives the answer "camp." Most puzzlers answered "lamp." Due to this and others errors there were no winners this week, which means that puzzle No. 17, appearing Friday, Saturday and Monday will be worth $75, plus a $50 bonus if a winner is a regular subscriber. The correct answer to puzzle 16 is on page 11.
